Metzler Selected As Top Teacher

OUTSTANDING YOUNG EDUCATOR — Donald Metzler, elementary school supervisor for Circleville City Schools, was named the Outstanding Young Educator of Pickaway County for 1969. The 34-year-old winner of the Jaycee sponsored contest is surrounded by members of his family, Jeffrey (left), 5; Jonathan (center) 2-months; his wife, Ula Jean; and dog, Annie.

A Circleville man, described by his superior as "one of the most promising young educators in the state," was named the Outstanding Young Educator of Pickaway County for 1969.

Donald Metzler, 34, of 640 Hawthorne Drive, was picked by a committee of local educators and civic leaders to be the second Pickaway Countyman ever to receive this recognition.

Metzler was judged on his professional background, teaching skills, contributions to the community and profession and the recommendation of his superiors.

He will receive the OYE Award at the annual Jaycees Distinguished Services Awards Banquet Monday evening at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Presenting the award will be Victor Pontious, last year's winner of the award.

Also receiving awards at the banquet will be the county's Outstanding Young Man, Young Farmer and Senior Citizen.

Metzler presently serves as elementary supervisor of the Circleville City Schools. This is the first year that this post has existed in Circleville.

He describes his job as one of working with teachers as a resource person, providing them with new approaches, making recommendations, counseling students and coordinating activities.

He is also testing coordinator, coordinator of the special education programs at the school, chairman of the family life education committee, coordinator of summer school and coordinator of the adult basic education program.

The new Outstanding Young Educator comes to his post after ten years of teaching in Pickaway County and seven years at Circleville schools.

Born in Circleville, he stated that he returned here to teach because he likes the people and believes that the Circleville educational system is outstanding, especially considering the money spent per pupil is far below the state average.

Precipitation Predominant Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From the Pacific Northwest to the East Coast the nation's weather menu featured snow, rain or drizzle and some locally heavy fog Friday with the stubborn cold arctic air mass keeping the north central states in winter's deep freeze.

The nearly stationary low over northwest Washington continued to add to the record snow depth in the Washington mountains and in the lower elevations another inch of snow was reported. The rest of the area to the west of the Rockies is generally fair with seasonable temperatures.

Miami and Key West, Fla., topped the nation's temperature list with 68. Havre, Mont., claimed the low of 13 below zero.

The frontal system extending from Michigan to Oklahoma was the dividing line between cold and unseasonably mild weather. The moderating temperatures with occasional rain or drizzle and some locally heavy fog extended from the lower Mississippi Valley to the eastern Great Lakes. Temperatures were above the freezing mark as far north as the eastern tip of Lake Superior.

Warm and moist air riding up over the cold dome of air in the central states produced some drizzle, freezing drizzle and snow in Kansas and Nebraska.

Ohio Senate Eyes Campus Flareup Curbs

67 Solons Set Burr Oak Park Workshop Meet

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill aimed at curbing disruption on Ohio campuses has been introduced in the legislature by Republican Sens. Harry L. Armstrong of Logan and James K. Leedy of Wooster.

Under provisions of the bill, university officials would be permitted to oust from the campus any person, other than a student, officer or employee, if it appears there is any intent on the part of any person to commit an act which would interfere with orderly campus and education procedures.

Students, faculty members and nonteaching employees, under the bill could be suspended until a hearing board determines guilt or innocence in cases where these persons "direct, incite, encourage or participate" in campus disturbances.

Permanent dismissal is possible under provisions of the bill if the person is found guilty. Penalty for an outside agitator would be a fine of $100 to $500 and up to six months in jail.

At least 67 legislators—60 of them from the House—will be at Burr Oak State Park near Athens for a governmental "workshop." Skeleton sessions, requiring only two legislators (Continued on Page 2)

Ice Brings Flood Threat To Ohioans

CINCINNATI (AP) — Thawing ice on the Ohio River and its arteries continued to pose a flood threat today for the Ohio River Valley as warmer temperatures and rain moved in over the state.

The Weather Bureau's River Forecast Center at Cincinnati said an advisory - alert issued Thursday would remain in effect through Saturday.

"All interests along the Ohio River and the tributaries should remain alert to the potentially dangerous ice situation . . . The ice jams may become severe enough to cause bank-fail conditions."

Temperatures ranging into the 40s and 50s were forecast for most of Ohio today and light rains were expected to cover almost all areas.

Warm temperatures coupled with rain could provide a formula which might break tons of ice sheets — causing the rivers to overflow, the Forecast Center said.

Rivermen were keeping watch on the Scioto in Central Ohio, the Great Miami and Little Miami in Southwest Ohio, and the Sandusky in the northern part of the state.

Ice on all the rivers was reported to be at least three inches thick, with the Scioto and the Sandusky reporting layers up to 10 inches. The Sandusky flows into Lake Erie.

Nixon Indicates No Change Coming In Viet Talk Policy

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President-elect Nixon has pledged himself to purpose full and energetic pursuit of the Vietnam peace negotiations, without signaling any policy alteration in that quest.

His statement on Saturday's coming resumption of the Paris peace talks was brief and little more than a formality. The break in the procedural deadlock which had stalled the talks was a preinauguration bonus for the incoming administration.

Nixon, working and relaxing at Key Biscayne, at first indicated through a spokesman that he would have nothing to say on the matter. Later he issued this statement:

"I am pleased that new talks can now begin in Paris. My administration will pursue these talks with energy and purpose."

The president-elect will wind up his four-day Florida respite and fly to New York tonight, his inaugural address presumably all but ready for Monday's ceremony.

He has made no public appearances and has been reported at work daily on the speech he will deliver from the steps of the Capitol as the nation's 37th president.

Nixon announced Thursday his selection of George A. Lincoln, a retired brigadier general, and professor at the U.S. Military Academy, to become director of the Office of Emergency Planning.

He has since served periodically as an adviser to the Pentagon and the White House on military assistance, defense equipment and manpower and related topics.

Lincoln, 65, served as a logistics, policy and strategy planner during World War II and since becoming a professor at West Point 22 years ago has served periodically as an adviser to the Pentagon and White House on defense equipment, manpower and related topics.

There has been no clear outline of the Nixon policy on the Vietnam war or the peace negotiations. The President-elect plans, sometime after Monday's inauguration, to dispatch written policy instructions to his negotiators, the U.S. Embassy in Saigon and military commanders in Vietnam.

Nixon's choice of advisers and diplomats, and his past statements on the Vietnam conflict, indicate no major shift in U.S. policy.

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts in the space-ship Soyuz 4 landed in the snow and howling winds about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow today. The temperature at the landing site was 31 degrees below zero.

Soyuz 5 with cosmonaut Boris Volynov remained in orbit.

Tass news agency said the crew, two of whom had transferred to Soyuz 4 from Soyuz 5 after an orbital linkup Thursday, landed about 25 miles northwest of Karaganda in Kazakhstan.

It reported that villagers rushed through the snow with overcoats to protect the spacemen from the biting cold.

The cosmonauts climbed aboard a helicopter and were flown into the steel-making city of Karaganda where they will be put up in the Chaika-Seagull —Hotel temporarily, Tass reported.

Tass said a recovery helicopter had first spotted the descending spaceship and a crewman shouted over the radio to ground control: "I can see them."

The first ship to land was commanded by Vladimir Shatalov, who was launched into orbit Tuesday. Two days later he was joined in his cabin by Alexei Yeliseyev and Yevgeny Khru-nov, who climbed aboard from Soyuz 5—achieving the world's first crew transfer in orbit.

Radio Moscow said Volynov reported from space after the landing of his comrades that he "feels excellent." There was no immediate report on his plans for a return to earth.

Soyuz 4 docked in orbit Thursday with Soyuz 5, and then separated after transfer of the two crewmen. The f-4 was reported here as a step toward creation of long-term space laboratories.

The radio broadcast said Soyuz 4 landed in the "predetermined region" at 1:33 a.m. EST, after a "smooth" parachute descent through the earth's atmosphere.

LBJ Sad Over End Of Tenure

WASHINGTON (AP) — "It's been a little sad for me the last few days," says President Johnson, whose final hours in the White House are turning into one long farewell.

But as the President makes the rounds of goodbye receptions, for him and for trusted associates, he insists that he has no regrets about leaving office.

"I've never questioned my judgment in not wanting to run again," Johnson said Thursday night at a reception given by the Senate, where he served 13 of his 38 years in Washington.

The President's wife, their two daughters and their grand-son accompanied him to the Capitol. Johnson told the senators that as well as I deserved and better. I'm mighty grateful to every one of you."

The sadness of parting with old friends and old antagonists, was softened by Johnson, joking and poking fun at himself.

Harking back to his campaign to cut White House costs by ordering the lights turned out, Johnson reminded the senators that he was taking a big cut in pay next week. "If you think you have a problem cutting out lights, you just better not look at the LBJ ranch after sundown," he quipped.

Peace Talks Bring Study Of Cutbacks

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, conferred today with President Nguyen Van Thieu on U.S. troop withdrawals and a possible cease-fire in light of the break in the peace talks deadlock.

The meeting took place less than 24 hours after an announcement from Paris that the United States, North Vietnam, South Vietnam and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front will begin four-way talks Saturday.

Earlier, the U.S. Air Force disclosed it is reviewing its contingency plans for a troop withdrawal or a cease-fire.

One source said the meeting was "pretty high level stuff," also attended by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Foreign Minister Tran Khanh Thanh. The informant said the leaders discussed "a whole spectrum of things" for nearly two hours.

Topics included: —Withdrawal of American troops, how many and how soon.

—A truce, which could mean a total cease-fire, a partial cease-fire or a "cease-fire in place." The latter means all troops would simply stay where they are, without mounting any new operations or continuing any old ones.

—How to retaliate if the enemy should attack Saigon during the new negotiations. "In other words," said the source, "would this mean an automatic resumption of bombing North Vietnam?"

—The demilitarized zone. Ky, supervisor of South Vietnam's Paris delegation, is scheduled to return to Europe early next week.

Senate Committees Grapple With Nixon Appointments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Senate committees considering top-level nominations in the new administration grapple today with the question of how far they should go in forcing government officials to dispose of personal financial holdings.

And Gov. Walter Hickel of Alaska, designated the new secretary of interior, was called for a third day of testimony before the Senate Interior Committee, which has been probing deeply into his experience and his views.

Winton M. Blount of Alabama, head of a large construction firm, appears before the Post Office Committee on his nomination as postmaster general. No difficulties are anticipated.

He is the last of the 12 cabinet nominees called to Capitol Hill for committee questioning prior to Senate voting on confirming the appointments.

Despite the prolonged interrogation of Hickel, which may extend into Saturday, and to questions over private finances, all 12 nominations are expected to receive speedy approval after Nixon's inauguration Monday.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated Thursday that confirmations might be completed by next Tuesday.

The questions about personal financial holdings involved David M. Kennedy, a Chicago banker named treasury secretary, and David Packard of Palo Alto, Calif., chosen deputy secretary of defense.

Tuxedo Haunts Richard Nixon

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon will be represented by two tuxedos at his inaugural ball in Washington Monday—the one he wears himself and the one on Sheriff Joseph I. Woods of Cook County.

Woods, brother of the President-elect's personal secretary, Rose Mary Woods, has boasted for years that he wears Nixon's hand-me-downs.

He inherited Nixon's inaugural ball tuxedo in 1966. It's a 42 regular.

Sirhan Trial May Become Landmark Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continued legal arguments over a prospective juror opposed to the death penalty raises the possibility that the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial may become a landmark case in U.S. law.

Since Sirhan is charged with slaying Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the trial commands worldwide attention.

But the calling of Alina Alvarez as a prospective juror set the stage for a legal decision that could become a keystone ruling in future U.S. murder trials.

The battle was joined Thursday—the seventh day of Sirhan's trial—when Deputy Dist. Atty. David N. Fitts renewed his challenge to her seating. Mrs. Alvarez told the court Wednesday that "under no circumstances whatsoever" could she vote for a death penalty.

But, the bespectacled woman in her 30s added, she felt qualified to judge the question of the 24-year-old Jordanian's guilt or innocence.

Judge Herbert V. Walker indicated he would rule today on her seating. Mrs. Alvarez is among five men and six women tentatively seated.

Both the defense and prosecution say it could be a landmark decision which ultimately might spare Sirhan, if convicted, from the gas chamber.

Should the disputed juror remain on the panel and Sirhan be convicted of first degree murder, Deputy Dist. Atty. John E. Howard said the judge would risk a mistrial or the problem of double jeopardy—trying a defendant twice on the same charge.

British Labor Plan Attacked

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government outlined today a politically dangerous plan to curb wildcat strikes and reorganize Britain's union structure. It includes provisions for a cooling-off period and fines.

The program was contained in a government white paper the main provisions of which, already had been leaked through discussions with business and union leaders. Both objected vigorously—the unions because they felt it too strong, management because it wanted tougher sanctions against strikes.

Productivity Minister Barbara Castle took the program through the Cabinet over opposition from some of its union-oriented members.

Staking her political reputation on it, she began appealing for support within her party before the white paper was published. She called a meeting to explain the proposals to 135 Labor members of Parliament who are backed by unions. They were summoned back to London before Parliament reassembles on Monday after its Christmas recess.

Final details of the proposed new labor law were not given in the white paper. But they are not expected to be enacted at least until fall—and then only if rank and file labor MPS can be held in line.

The white paper zeroes in on wildcat strikes—Britain's "tea break" strikes over petty grievances which usually reflect revolts against union leadership or management and account for 95 per cent of all stoppages.

Long Haggling In Paris Expected

PARIS (AP) — The Vietnam talks will begin anew Saturday under an agreement so vague and ambiguous as to becloud any participant's claim of victory. But new wrangling lies ahead, and few here expect progress toward peace to be anything but slow and tortuous.

The vagueness of the arrangements for the first enlarged meeting appeared to have been deliberate. The solution to an obstacle which held up this phase of the talks for more than two months centered about the arrangement of one large table and two small ones in the International Conference Center.

The French government has been asked to produce a big round table suitable for seating 16 delegates around it at one time, and two small rectangular tables, each 5 1/2 feet long and three feet wide. The small tables will be placed at opposite sides of the big table, exactly 18 inches from its edges.

The South Vietnamese government can point to this table arrangement as actually providing the dividing line between two sides which it has demanded, and can even claim that the arrangement cuts the conference room in half.

North Vietnam and its ally, the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front, can point to the fact that their original round table idea has been accepted, and that thus they consider the conference four-sided.

What appears to have taken place in the long weeks of bargaining is a vindication of the slogan of W. Averell Harriman, the departing chief U.S. negotiator, who pictures himself a champion of "open covenants secretly arrived at."

"The arrangement is exactly as we wanted it to be," Harriman said. "We will always consider it a two-sided conference. The other side considers it a four-party conference. We did not give in and we did not expect them to give in. Meanwhile, we can go ahead and do business."

But it seems clear that each side had to surrender something.

North Vietnam dropped its insistence on the drawing of lots by the four parties for a speaking order. As Hanoi envisioned it, this process would have indicated equal status for the Liberation Front with the Saigon government.

Saigon dropped its insistence on a visible mark across the table to indicate two sides, and pictured the table arrangement which emerged Thursday as "the nearest we could get to the two sides that we have been fighting for."

Ohio Senate

The legislature received Thursday proposed measures that would appoint an ombudsman, grant homestead exemptions to homeowners 65 or over, abolish capital punishment and a bonus to veterans of the Vietnam war.

The ombudsman, appointed by the governor, would have sweeping investigative powers and would be immune from any civil or criminal liability.

The proposal, as submitted by Sen. John H. Weeks R-Cuyahoga would give the ombudsman the same salary as the chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, $32,500.

Two homestead exemption proposals were offered in the House.

Rep. Alan E. Norris R-Franklin sponsored a $5,000 exemption resolution while a similar one was filed by Rep. A. G. Lancione, Democrat from Bellaire. It would leave the exemption amount up to the legislature.

The capital punishment issue was brought before the legislature again by Rep. Phale D. Haie D-Franklin. He wants Ohio to abolish the death penalty.

The Vietnam bonus proposal was offered in both the House and Senate. Following the lines of the old Korean bonus, it would pay $15 for each month overseas. Maximum payment would be $400.

Present congressional districts would be used to realign the Ohio Board of Education membership under another Senate proposal.

A bill to permit police and firemen to retire after 20 years was introduced in the House. They must now serve 25 years unless disabled.

Medical Panel Concludes Kennedy Autopsy Factual

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of medical experts which met in secret last year says the autopsy findings on President John F. Kennedy were correct as detailed in the Warren Commission Report and prove he was shot twice from behind.

The report was made public by the Justice Department Thursday night on the eve of court proceedings on a petition by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to gain possession of autopsy photographs and x-rays in the hope of proving the President was hit by one bullet fired from in front of him, and another fired at his back.

Garrison subpoenaed the material as evidence in the trial of Clay L. Shaw, retired 55-year-old New Orleans businessman charged with conspiring to murder Kennedy.

Garrison claims he can use the photographs and x-rays to prove at least one of the bullets which struck Kennedy in Dallas five years ago was fired from his front.

This would show that a conspiracy was involved, whereas the Warren Commission concluded Kennedy was shot by one man, Lee Harvey Oswald, acting alone.

The photographs and x-rays were placed in the care of the National Archives in 1966 by Kennedy's widow, Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, and his brother, the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

This was done by letter agreement that the material would not be made public for five years, and then only to government investigators, to prevent "undignified or sensational" use of them.

Garrison asked that the District of Columbia General Sessions Court order the national

While Abrams is against withdrawing any combat units from Vietnam before mid-July, sources said he has reluctantly accepted the fact that some troop withdrawals will be made relatively soon.

The Dow industrials at noon were off 1.43 at 937.16.

Benguet took a big lead as most-active stock, rising a point on a parade of big blocks as issue rebounded from selling and advanced on hope that a 60-day delay in a decision by the Philippine government would be favorable to those who hope the company will link up with hotel and gambling interests in the Bahamas.

Fayette Youths Sent To OYC

Two youths were sentenced to Ohio Youth Commission in Fayette County Juvenile Court Thursday. The 14-year old boys admitted to the $60 armed robbery of a Washington C. H. market last Monday.

The defendants had no explanation for their action saying only that they were "dissatisfied with school." The crime was planned on the spur of the moment, they indicated, and was carried out with the aid of two shotguns owned by one of the boy's father and another relative. Both shotguns, still loaded, were retrieved by sheriff's deputies along with $38 in bills.

Juvenile Court Judge ordered the commitments to OYC which will mean a minimum of five months confinement in a correctional facility operated by Ohio Youth Commission.

The two boys had been held at the county jail since they were apprehended. The court did not permit bond.

Medical Panel Concludes Kennedy Autopsy Factual

WASHINGTON (AP) — A panel of medical experts which met in secret last year says the autopsy findings on President John F. Kennedy were correct as detailed in the Warren Commission Report and prove he was shot twice from behind.

The report was made public by the Justice Department Thursday night on the eve of court proceedings on a petition by New Orleans Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison to gain possession of autopsy photographs and x-rays in the hope of proving the President was hit by one bullet fired

Johnson has been conferring with top American and South Vietnamese officials since Wednesday. He is scheduled to leave for Washington Saturday to report his findings to President-elect Nixon, but the spokesman said his departure may be delayed by his illness.

While Abrams is against withdrawing any combat units from Vietnam before mid-July, sources said he has reluctantly accepted the fact that some troop withdrawals will be made relatively soon.

Informants close to Thieu said the initial withdrawal announcement could specify from 20,000 to 50,000 men without a timetable.

Stock List Holds Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains outnumbered losses by a comfortable margin on the New York Stock Exchange this afternoon, despite profit taking on the week's rise.

Some blue chips weakened under selling and the result was a loss in the Dow Jones industrial average.

The Dow industrials at noon were off 1.43 at $37.16. Gains outnumbered losses on the Big Board by more than 300 issues.

Airlines were strong as a result of approval of tentative airline fare boosts by the Civil Aeronautics board.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 at 352.9 with industrials up .7, rails up 1.4 and utilities up .6.

Benguet took a big lead as most-active stock, rising a point on a parade of big blocks as issue rebounded from selling and advanced on hope that a 60-day delay in a decision by the Philippine government would be favorable to those who hope the company will link up with hotel and gambling interests in the Bahamas.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher.

Marsha's Miniskirt Causes Consternation In Iowa House

DES MOINES (AP)—Members of Iowa's House of Representatives devoted their maximum attention to a mini matter Wednesday—Marsha's miniskirt to be exact.

Attention turned in that direction when Mrs. Dolores Abels, secretary to the chief clerk, suggested in an orientation session for new secretaries that they refrain from minis "for their own protection."

"I don't feel that these young girls, some from small towns and not used to big city life, should be subjected to comments which I am certain will come," Mrs. Abels said.

And there was Marsha Thompson, 19, of Sioux Falls, S.D., all decked out in an orange minidress that stopped about eight inches above her knee.

As word of Mrs. Abels' suggestion spread, a number of legislators sprang to the defense of the mini, even one as "mini" as Marsha's.

"The only objection I can find is that they are too long," reported Rep. William Hill, R-Marshaltown, after a quick check among his colleagues.

"I wish I could wear them," sighed State Sen. Charlene Conklin, R-Waterloo.

At least one legislator took a long view of the matter.

"Such dress creates a diversion from our work," said State Rep. Charles Grassley, 35, R-Hartford, "Not only that, they bring shame to the legislature."

Finally, it was grandfather's view which prevailed. Marsha is secretary to her grandfather, Rep. Leo Sanders, R-Esther-ville. Sanders said he saw nothing wrong with Marsha's mini, but because of the furor he might suggest that she lower her hemlines.

Red Space Accomplishment Still Lags Behind America

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—By successfully linking two manned spaceships and transferring two crewmen, the Soviet Union has demonstrated it can assemble space stations for operations in earth orbit. But if they plan to beat Americans to a moon landing, the Russians will have to do much more.

Technical details of exactly how Russia plans to land cosmonauts on the lunar surface and return them to earth remain cloaked in secrecy. But knowledgeable western observers who specialize in assessing the Soviet space program generally believe cosmonauts don't have a chance of making it before 1970.

The United States, meanwhile, is expected to place its Apollo 11 astronauts on the lunar surface in mid-July of this year.

Unlike the U.S. program, which has Saturn 5 rockets powerful enough to propel men moonward with a single launch, the Soviets will require perhaps five or six different launches to assemble in earth orbit the rockets, spacecraft and fuel supplies needed for a lunar landing, knowledgeable observers believe.

In addition, recent remarks by cosmonauts and Soviet officials after the Soyuz 3 flight by Col Georgy Beregovoy last October indicate Soyuz craft cannot take heat and pressure buildups of a 25,000-mile-an-hour reentry encountered by spaceships returning to earth from the vicinity of the moon.

Soyuz craft can only reenter at earth orbital speeds of 17,500 miles an hour, the Soviets indicated.

If so, this means a flight to the moon using Soyuz would require firing from the lunar surface into earth orbit first, then reentering the atmosphere—an extremely difficult sequence which Russia has not yet proven it can accomplish.

Soviet officials have left no doubt in statements that the Soyuz series is aimed at construction of manned orbiting platforms. If Soyuz 1 succeeded in 1967 instead of ending in the death of a cosmonaut, they would have long since constructed and operated one.

Saxbe And Young Vote For Cloture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Ohio senators, Democrat Stephen Young and Republican William Saxbe, voted Thursday for cloture to shut off debate on whether the Senate should have taken up a proposal to make it easier to end filibusters.

The vote was 51-47 for cloture. A two-third majority ordinarily is needed to impose cloture but Vice President Hubert Humphrey held, in a ruling then overturned by the Senate, that a majority was sufficient.

Sen. George D. Aiken, senior Republican on the committee, said that while members want to satisfy themselves about Lodge's position, he thinks President-elect Nixon will make all the decisions, just as President Johnson has done for his negotiating team at the peace conference.

"I think that Lodge will be able to move the negotiations along faster," said Aiken. "The Communists will be willing to talk with him as North Vietnam was never willing to talk with Johnson, or his representative."

The senator didn't explain why he thought the Communists would be more receptive to the man who, as ambassador to South Vietnam, urged unrelenting war against the Viet Cong insurgents.

FORECASTS
OHIO — Rain tonight and Saturday. Low tonight mid or upper 30s north to the 40s south.

NORTHWEST OHIO — Rain tonight and Saturday. High today and Saturday in the upper 30s and 40s. Low tonight in the mid to upper 30s.

SOUTHWEST, SOUTHEAST, CENTRAL OHIO — Rain tonight and Saturday. High today and Saturday in the upper 40s and 50s. Low tonight in the 40s.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST
Temperatures Saturday through Wednesday will average near normal, with daily highs mostly in the 30s and nighttime lows generally in the 20s. Mild at the beginning of the period followed by a change to cooler with normal temperatures the remainder of the period. Precipitation will total one-half to three-fourth inch melted as rain about Saturday, and snow flurries around Sunday and Monday.

Lodge Faces Tough Time With Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee questions Henry Cabot Lodge, now chief of the U.S. negotiating team in Paris, today to try to find out if he still is personally opposed to compromise peace in Vietnam.

As one member explained it, the committee is divided over whether there is indeed a "new" Lodge, now more agreeable to a negotiated settlement than when he was ambassador to Saigon. But suspicion persists that the division isn't equal. Opponents of the war, led by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., hold a majority on the committee.

Lodge will be asked about reports from Bonn, where he has been ambassador, that he has softened his view that the war must be carried on until the Communist Viet Cong is decimated.

Sen. George D. Aiken, senior Republican on the committee, said that while members want to satisfy themselves about Lodge's position, he thinks President-elect Nixon will make all the decisions, just as President Johnson has done for his negotiating team at the peace conference.

11-Year-Old Held In Slaying

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland police say an 11-year-old East Side boy is being held in connection with the stabbing death of 38-year-old Douglas Hicks.

Hicks was stabbed Thursday night while visiting a woman friend and died early today at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Homicide detectives said the woman's 11-year-old son told them he stabbed Hicks with a steak knife after Hicks threw a meat cleaver at him.

The boy was being held at the Juvenile Detention Home. Facts in the case were to be presented to the prosecutor.

Red Space Accomplishment Still Lags Behind America

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—By successfully linking two manned spaceships and transferring two crewmen, the Soviet Union has demonstrated it can assemble space stations for operations in earth orbit. But if they plan to beat Americans to a moon landing, the Russians will have to do much more.

Technical details of exactly how Russia plans to land cosmonauts on the lunar surface and return them to earth remain cloaked in secrecy. But knowledgeable western observers who specialize in assessing the Soviet space program generally believe cosmonauts don't have a chance of making it before 1970.

The United States, meanwhile, is expected to place its Apollo 11 astronauts on the lunar surface in mid-July of this year.

Unlike the U.S. program, which has Saturn 5 rockets pow-

Lodge Faces Tough Time With Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee questions Henry Cabot Lodge, now chief of the U.S. negotiating team in Paris, today to try to find out if he still is personally opposed to compromise peace in Vietnam.

As one member explained it, the committee is divided over whether there is indeed a "new" Lodge, now more agreeable to a negotiated settlement than when he was ambassador to Saigon. But suspicion persists that the division isn't equal. Opponents of the war, led by Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., hold a majority on the committee.

Lodge will be asked about reports from Bonn, where he has been ambassador, that he has softened his view that the war must be carried on until the Communist Viet Cong is decimated.

Sen. George D. Aiken, senior Republican on the committee, said that while members want to satisfy themselves about Lodge's position, he thinks President-elect Nixon will make all the decisions, just as President Johnson has done for his negotiating team at the peace conference.

"I think that Lodge will be able to move the negotiations along faster," said Aiken. "The Communists will be willing to talk with him as North Vietnam was never willing to talk with Johnson, or his representative."

The senator didn't explain why he thought the Communists would be more receptive to the man who, as ambassador to South Vietnam, urged unrelenting war against the Viet Cong insurgents.

by cosmonauts and Soviet officials after the Soyuz 3 flight by Col Georgy Beregovoy last October indicate Soyuz craft cannot take heat and pressure buildups of a 25,000-mile-an-hour reentry encountered by spaceships returning to earth from the vicinity of the moon.

Soyuz craft can only reenter at earth orbital speeds of 17,500 miles an hour, the Soviets indicated.

If so, this means a flight to the moon using Soyuz would require firing from the lunar surface into earth orbit first, then reentering the atmosphere—an extremely difficult sequence which Russia has not yet proven it can accomplish.

Soviet officials have left no doubt in statements that the Soyuz series is aimed at construction of manned orbiting platforms. If Soyuz 1 succeeded in 1967 instead of ending in the death of a cosmonaut, they would have long since constructed and operated one.

Saxbe And Young Vote For Cloture

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both Ohio senators, Democrat Stephen Young and Republican William Saxbe, voted Thursday for cloture to shut off debate on whether the Senate should have taken up a proposal to make it easier to end filibusters.

The vote was 51-47 for cloture. A two-third majority ordinarily is needed to impose cloture, but Vice President Hubert Humphrey held, in a ruling then overturned by the Senate, that a majority was sufficient.

Latin Troubles Multiply

With numerous trouble spots bubbling over in the Mid East, Europe and Africa, scant attention has been directed to recent events in Latin America. In more tranquil times in other parts of the world, events of the last year in Latin countries would have attracted considerable attention and caused chagrin over the future of United States policy in that region.

Three Latin countries — Panama, Peru and Brazil — saw the overthrow of their governments by military coup. This came as a sharp blow to the relative political tranquility which had permeated Central and South America in more recent years.

The Alliance for Progress was knocked into a shambles in 1968.

Venezuela and Mexico no longer require U.S. aid, Argentina has gone off in an independent direction and Peru at the moment is completely outside the U.S. sphere of influence.

Brazil has become the third largest recipient of U.S. aid funds, following only South Vietnam and India, but the current turn toward dictatorship by its ruling military leaders may cause Congress to take a hard look at such handouts.

As president Nixon may be called upon to draw heavily upon his considerable experience and perception to keep the Latin region from becoming as potentially explosive as the current hot spots of the world.

Has Hess Gone Hippie?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The word is out in Washington that Karl Hess, former speech writer for Barry Goldwater, has ceased to be a "conservative." Karl allegedly "blew his cover" by teaching a seminar at the Institute for Policy Studies run by Marcus Raskin, one of Dr. Benjamin Spock's co-defendants in the draft obstruction trial, and by suddenly deciding that the "North" is going to be the inevitable winner in the struggle for Vietnam.

Actually, the tush-tushing and the shaking of heads over Hess's "defection" show how little people know about the "conservative" movement, which has always had its libertarian and its Tory wings. Hess happens to be a libertarian, a man who heartily dislikes and fears the encroachments of government. (The Tory conservatives merely want to run the State their own way.)

Although Hess's change of mind about the need to fight the spread of Communism in foreign countries comes as something of a shock to his old anti-Communist friends, it should hardly be hot news that "Kasual Karl" opposes such things as the compulsory military draft or that he agrees with the more anti-Statist New Leftists on the college campuses. He hasn't quit Barry Goldwater in principle; he has merely parted company with his old idol in his analysis of much that is happening of a revolutionary nature in the so-called Third World of the tropics.

Hess isn't the first "conservative" to make common cause with the libertarian wing of the New Left. Some time ago Murray Rothbard, anti-Statist economist who thinks Herbert Hoover was essentially a socialist because he bequeathed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Farm Board to Franklin D. Roosevelt, turned up as a contributor to New Left publications. Rothbard justified this as part of his opposition to government infringement on personal liberty. After all, he was against drafting young men for the Vietnamese War, and so were the Students for a Democratic Society. Rothbard argues that the young campus radicals are far more anarchist than they are Marxist, and he finds anarchists less obnoxious as "fellow travelers" than his old "conservative" friends who believe in compulsion to the end of fighting a war we have never had the guts or the common morality to declare.

The Young Americans for Freedom, spurred on by such young libertarians as David Frank, formerly the editor of the conservative New Guard, long ago formed a united front with the New Left for a crusade to repeal the draft. And among older libertarians who get listed as "conservative" because they have been prominent in fighting the spread of the Great Society, Dr. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago is a vigorous draft opponent. So Karl Hess, far from betraying the "conservative" movement, is merely calling attention to the fact that many "conservatives" believe in old-fashioned concepts of freedom.

I happen to differ with Karl Hess about the nature of many of the "Third World" revolutionary movements. To Hess, Ho Chi Minh is, presumably, more nationalist than Communist. This is surely a delusion; all Communists are nationalist when it suits their strategy to be so. (Ho Chi Minh would certainly refuse to remain a "nationalist" if a plebiscite in Vietnam were to vote for a free "bourgeois" state.)

But, entirely aside from questions of foreign policy analysis, I am all for Karl Hess in his insistence that the spread of Big Government is the enemy of conservatism (libertarian brand, of course). Karl is absolutely right when he says it is a contradiction in terms to draft young men to fight for freedom; free men ought to volunteer to do that. As a matter of fact, a number of Young Americans for Freedom have volunteered to fight in Vietnam after voting in their home organizations to get rid of General Hershey and the draft boards that are spiritual drifts on a society that professes to be free. That is what young men who believe in a free world should do.

A University of Wisconsin biochemist thinks the home menu of the future will include a lot of alfalfa. That is hay.

The biochemist thinks that the cost of eating meat eventually will be too great. Eventually up to any day now.

Dr. Mark A. Stahmann says the same amount of protein can be derived from leaf extract as from meat or milk. Perhaps the fig leaf is due for a comeback.

Dr. Stahmann says leaf extract is more digestible than beef. And leaf extract is rare.

Dr. Stahmann says enough alfalfa protein to supply the world could be raised in an area an eighth larger than Texas. The identity of Texas seldom has been placed in that unpopular a light.

Some day alfalfa extract may be substituted for steak. If you can get away with that, who needs the United Nations?

There is hope, however. So far nobody has thought of a cheap way of extracting protein from alfalfa.

A BRIGHT young Wall Streeter confided to a jeweler friend, "I've gotten myself engaged—and will be bringing my fiancée in to pick out a ring tomorrow. I'm counting on you not to show her anything that costs more than a thousand bucks." "You have my word," promised the jeweler—and he lived up to it, too. The Wall Streeter called him later to thank him. "It wasn't easy," admitted the jeweler. "It took a half hour to talk her out of a $500 item!"

If the shifting mood and international postures struck by France puzzle you, cheer up: they puzzle the French people themselves. So proclaims Francois Mitterrand in his penetrating new book, "The French." The French, he points out, invented monarchy—then overthrew it. They've always loved law—but live in a state of virtually permanent anarchy. The same people who voted for the Popular Front in 1936, voted just five years later for the authoritarian rule of Vichy. They are cheeky about chic, reverent but blackball Britain, holiday in Spain, nag the U.S.A.—and miraculously transform disaster into renaissance.

There was a mean old curmudgeon out on the Eastern tip of Long Island, reports Jane Stanton, who was so thoroughly detested both by townsfolk and the summer colony that announcement of his demise brought cheers from all sides. In fact, such a crowd turned out for the funeral that they held it over for an extra week.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Yearly warnings and health campaigns are remarkably effective in teaching people the value of preventative medicine. They take heed in many instances and reap the dividends in good health. Sometimes, however, there is a tendency to carelessness, for which a penalty is paid in long disability.

Frostbite is the unhappy result of overexposure to freezing temperatures with resultant injury to the delicate, exposed tissues of the body. Simple precautions can prevent the long and painful illness and incapacitation that result from overexposure.

It is imperative that people recognize the earliest symptoms of frostbite which is caused by a decrease in the amount of blood and oxygen to the tips of the fingers, the toes, the earlobes, the nose and the cheeks.

A sensation of "pins and needles" with numbness and distinct pallor occurs at the very beginning of frostbite. Later the blanched skin begins to turn a bluish or purplish red.

Of all unpleasant illnesses, frostbite is the one that is most preventable. Warm clothing, preferably in several layers that do not bind the body tightly, warm dry insulated gloves, socks and waterproof shoes must be worn by anyone who, at work or at play, is exposed to sub-zero weather. All clothing and shoes must be loose so that they do not close off the blood vessels by constriction. It takes remarkably little exposure to cold and wind to affect the delicate "end" tissue of the body.

A friend and patient of mine living in the suburbs of New York was caught in a blizzard snowstorm and walked for ten minutes to a garage. In this short time overexposure led to frostbite and gangrene of one foot which incapacitated him for months before it regained circulation. On the basis of this experience I feel that it is an excellent idea for motorists who live in rural areas to carry an extra supply of heavy clothing and warm overshoes in their automobile, should it become necessary for them to seek assistance in a storm.

When frostbite is suspected, bring the victim into a warm room to allow gentle thawing. This can best be done by immersing the frostbitten area in tepid water. Do not rub or massage the frozen part of the body too vigorously. This may break the delicate skin and

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Guns, butter, a surplus and a reminder were the chief ingredients of Lyndon Johnson's proposed budget, his final one and, at $193.5 billion, his largest offered as President of the United States.

Two of the ingredients, guns and butter, are familiar in Johnson recipes. Twice before he had raised Social Security benefits, for example, and now he proposes another. And a Vietnam outlay of $25.7 billion wasn't unexpected.

The reminder, a poignant remembrance of his accomplishments, and the surplus, were the new components.

To many conservative citizens, the prospect of a $3.4 billion surplus might sound refreshing, coming as it does after big deficits. But this is only a proposal for another president, Mr. Nixon. Changes will be made.

The reminder was addressed to Americans who might forget what Lyndon Johnson did for his country, who might not appreciate the record he built, a record he evaluated himself as "an impressive one."

The guns and butter—guns for prosecuting the war and protecting American interests elsewhere, and butter for enriching the domestic life—symbolized to some people a dichotomy in the Johnson leadership.

As a man who was domestically oriented by origins, training and experience, Johnson seemingly would not or could not forego expensive domestic programs even though trouble abroad was draining the nation's finances.

As a result, the United States spent itself into a dangerous whirlpool of inflation, attempting to pay not only for heavy foreign expenses but for a huge domestic program that was called the Great Society.

Tremendous economic strides were made under Johnson in lifting families out of poverty, in caring for the sick, in making the elderly financially secure, in finding jobs for the unskilled, and even in raising corporate profits.

"We have witnessed a period of unprecedented economic growth," the President said, "with expanded production, rising standards of living, and the lowest rates of unemployment in a decade and a half."

But a great price was exacted.

At the beginning of the Johnson administration inflation was not a serious problem. At the close, consumer prices are rising at nearly 5 per cent a year, the highest rate in 17 years.

In the final months of his administration Johnson worked hard to bring spending into line with revenues. And, helped by an influx of revenues from an unexpectedly booming economy, he reached his goal.

The balance was barely reached in time, however, for the American balance of payments situation—that is, the relation of American spending abroad to foreign spending here—deteriorated dangerously.

Because of heavy spending in Vietnam and Europe and elsewhere, billions of American dollars were left in foreigners' hands. American corporations hoped to win these dollars back through product sales. But inflation hurt their chances.

The dollar, symbol of the nation's financial strength and integrity, was attacked as overvalued. Foreigners who had been holding dollars despite their distrust of paper, now rushed to turn them in for gold.

Not only was faith lost in the dollar, but the international monetary system seemed in danger of collapsing. Many factors contributed, including the system's inflexibility. But the keystone dollar's weakness was one of the chief dangers.

Because of this inflation—and the awakened spirit of the underprivileged was expressed in disorder, because the war made some people cynical, and because many believed the quality of life had deteriorated—the good that Johnson achieved was shadowed by clouds as his term ended. And so the President, experiencing perhaps more criticism than praise, felt it necessary to remind America of his accomplishments, to extol his own record.

According to Boyle

By JOE WING
(For Bob Thomas)

NEW YORK (AP)—Back in Lincoln, Neb., where I come from, there used to be an old cigar store, not far from the center of town, that featured chess and sandwiches.

The sandwiches were all right and you could get a pretty good lunch for two bits but the chess was extraordinary. Nothing cloistered about it.

To play in that company, the special skills required were temporary deafness, to shut out the exhortations of kibitzers, and ability to figure out chess combinations under the pressure of outspoken heckling. If you were a weak character you might even find the kibitzers moving the pieces for you.

When the proprietor decided to make the best of a raucous situation by charging a dime a game, the customers thinned out a little. But I never did get up the nerve to play a game there.

It was only natural nevertheless that when I came to New York I should gravitate to the chess parlor on the third floor of a dingy old building near the center of town at 42nd and Broadway. I still go there.

There, after pushing through crowds of tourists and mincing homages and gawkers and ladies on the prowl, you find a large bare room lighted by unshaded bulbs and strewn with chess tables and players and empty coffee cups, and kibitzers.

You can buy sandwiches at the parlor too and while away an evening watching characters thrust and parry across the checkered boards, at 40 cents an hour apiece, while taking an occasional glance at other characters straggling into the girls movies across the street. Some of the players look as if they might feel more at home in the Bowery. Others are aggressive types from the Seventh Avenue garment district around the corner. Or college students who have brought time clocks to simulate tournament conditions. There are also business men relaxing, unidentified strays, and me.

After some thousands of hours spent on the weaker side of a chess board, I have the nerve now to ask the gimlet-eyed major domo to arrange a game for me. "Beginner?" he asks. "About medium," I reply cautiously.

He points to a haggard, unshaven, rumpled old man, who sizes me up quickly.

"Dollar a game," he says. I know immediately I've had it. Anybody under those glaring lights who proposes a dollar a game certainly has no expectation of losing his dollar. He probably counts on it for whiskey money.

But it's Friday night and you're rich so you accept the challenge. The game hasn't advanced 10 moves before you're in more difficulties than you can account for. Ten more, he grabs your queen and it's all over.

"Got catch a train," you explain hurriedly despite his protests, dropping a dollar bill and starting down the two smelly flights of steps. And going to the subway you wonder why in the last 35 years or so you haven't pushed aside less essential matters, like holding down a job, and really sharpened up your chess. You might be making whisky money that way too.

Latin Troubles Multiply

With numerous trouble spots bubbling over in the Mid East, Europe and Africa, scant attention has been directed to recent events in Latin America. In more tranquil times in other parts of the world, events of the last year in Latin countries would have attracted considerable attention and caused chagrin over the future of United States policy in that region.

Three Latin countries — Panama, Peru and Brazil — saw the overthrow of their governments by military coup. This came as a sharp blow to the relative political tranquility which had permeated Central and South America in more recent years.

The Alliance for Progress was knocked into a shambles in 1968.

Venezuela and Mexico no longer require U.S. aid, Argentina has gone off in an independent direction and Peru at the moment is completely outside the U.S. sphere of influence.

Brazil has become the third largest recipient of U.S. aid funds, following only South Vietnam and India, but the current turn toward dictatorship by its ruling military leaders may cause Congress to take a hard look at such handouts.

As president Nixon may be called upon to draw heavily upon his considerable experience and perception to keep the Latin region from becoming as potentially explosive as the current hot spots of the world.

Has Hess Gone Hippie?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The word is out in Washington that Karl Hess, former speech writer for Barry Goldwater, has ceased to be a "conservative." Karl allegedly "blew his cover" by teaching a seminar at the Institute for Policy Studies run by Marcus Raskin, one of Dr. Benjamin Spock's co-defendants in the draft obstruction trial, and by suddenly deciding that the "North" is going to be the inevitable winner in the struggle for Vietnam.

Actually, the tush-tushing and the shaking of heads over Hess's "defection" show how little people know about the "conservative" movement, which has always had its libertarian and its Tory wings. Hess happens to be a libertarian, a man who heartily dislikes and fears the encroachments of government. (The Tory conservatives merely

Although Hess's change of mind about the need to fight the spread of Communism in foreign countries comes as something of a shock to his old anti-Communist friends, it should hardly be hot news that "Kasual Karl" opposes such things as the compulsory military draft or that he agrees with the more anti-Statist New Leftists on the college campuses. He hasn't quit Barry Goldwater in principle; he has merely parted company with his old idol in his analysis of much that is happening of a revolutionary nature in the so-called Third World of the tropics.

Hess isn't the first "conservative" to make common cause with the libertarian wing of the New Left. Some time ago Murray Rothbard, anti-Statist economist who thinks Herbert Hoover was essentially a socialist because he bequeathed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Farm Board to Franklin D. Roosevelt, turned up as a contributor to New Left publications. Rothbard justified this as part of his opposition to government infringement on personal liberty.

After all, he was against drafting young men for the Vietnamese War, and so were the Students for a Democratic Society. Rothbard argues that the young campus radicals are far more anarchist than they are Marxist, and he finds anarchists less obnoxious as "fellow travelers" than his old "conservative" friends, who believe in compulsion to the end of fighting a war we have never had the guts or the common morality to declare.

The Young Americans for Freedom, spurred on by such young libertarians as David Frank, formerly the editor of the conservative New Guard, long ago formed a united front with the New Left for a crusade to repeal the draft. And among older libertarians who get listed as "conservative" because they have been prominent in fighting the spread of the Great Society, Dr. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago is a vigorous draft opponent. So Karl Hess, far from betraying the "conservative" movement, is merely calling attention to the fact that many "conservatives" believe in old-fashioned concepts of freedom.

I happen to differ with Karl Hess about the nature of many of the "Third World" revolutionary movements. To Hess, Ho Chi Minh is, presumably, more nationalist than Communist. This is surely a delusion; all Communists are nationalist when it suits their strategy to be so. (Ho Chi Minh would certainly refuse to remain a "nationalist" if a plebiscite in Vietnam were to vote for a free "bourgeois" state.)

But, entirely aside from questions of foreign policy analysis, I am all for Karl Hess in his insistence that the spread of Big Government is the enemy of conservatism (libertarian brand, of course). Karl is absolutely right when he says it is a contradiction in terms to draft young men to fight for freedom; free men ought to volunteer to do that. As a matter of fact, a number of Young Americans for Freedom have volunteered to fight in Vietnam after voting in their home organizations to get rid of General Hershey and the draft boards that are spiritual blots on a society that professes to be free. That is what young men who believe in a free world should do.

A University of Wisconsin biochemist thinks the home menu of the future will include a lot of alfalfa. That is hay.

The biochemist thinks that the cost of eating meat eventually will be too great. Eventually up to any day now.

Dr. Mark A. Stahmann says the same amount of protein can be derived from leaf extract as from meat or milk. Perhaps the fig leaf is due for a comeback.

Dr. Stahmann says leaf extract is more digestible than beef. And leaf extract is rare.

Dr. Stahmann says enough alfalfa protein to supply the world could be raised in an area an eighth larger than Texas. The identity of Texas seldom has been placed in that unpopular light.

Some day alfalfa extract may be substituted for steak. If you can get away with that, who needs the United Nations?

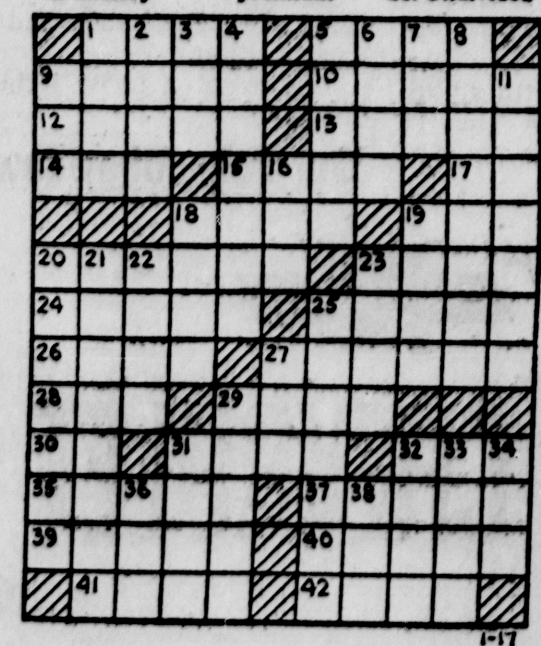

There is hope, however. So far nobody has thought of a cheap way of extracting protein from alfalfa.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BRIGHT young Wall Streeter confided to a jeweler friend, "I've gotten myself engaged—and will be bringing my fiancée in to pick out a ring tomorrow. I'm counting on you not to show her anything that costs more than a thousand bucks." "You have my word," promised the jeweler—and he lived up to it, too. The Wall Streeter called him later to thank him. "It wasn't easy," admitted the jeweler. "It took a half hour to talk her out of a $500 item!"

If the shifting mood and international postures struck by France puzzle you, cheer up: they puzzle the French people themselves. So proclaims Francois Mitterrand in his penetrating new book, "The French." The French, he points out, invented monarchy—then overthrew it. They've always loved law—but live in a state of virtually permanent anarchy. The same people who voted for the Popular Front in 1936, voted just five years later for the authoritarian rule of Vichy. They are cheeky about chic, reverse but blackball Britain, holiday in Spain, nag the U.S.A.—and miraculously transform disaster into renaissance.

There was a mean old curmudgeon out on the Eastern tip of Long Island, reports Jane Stanton, who was so thoroughly detested both by townsfolk and the summer colony that announcement of his demise brought cheers from all sides. In fact, such a crowd turned out for the funeral that they held it over for an extra week.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Yearly warnings and health campaigns are remarkably effective in teaching people the value of preventative medicine. They take heed in many instances and reap the dividends in good health. Sometimes, however, there is a tendency to carelessness, for which a penalty is paid in long disability.

Frostbite is the unhappy result of overexposure to freezing temperatures with resultant injury to the delicate, exposed tissues of the body. Simple precautions can prevent the long and painful illness and incapacitation that result from overexposure.

It is imperative that people recognize the earliest symptoms of frostbite which is caused by a decrease in the amount of blood and oxygen to the tips of the fingers, the toes, the ear lobes, the nose and the cheeks.

A sensation of "pins and needles" with numbness and distinct pallor occurs at the very beginning of frostbite. Later the blanched skin begins to turn a bluish or purplish red.

Of all unpleasant illnesses, frostbite is the one that is most preventable. Warm clothing, preferably in several layers that do not bind the body tightly, warm dry insulated gloves, socks and waterproof shoes must be worn by anyone who, at work or at play, is exposed to sub-zero weather. All clothing and shoes must be loose so that they do not close off the blood vessels by constriction. It takes remarkably little exposure to cold and wind to affect the delicate "end" tissue of the body.

A friend and patient of mine living in the suburbs of New York was caught in a blizzard snowstorm and walked for ten minutes to a garage. In this short time overexposure led to frostbite and gangrene of one foot which incapacitated him for months before it regained circulation. On the basis of this experience I feel that it is an excellent idea for motorists who live in rural areas to carry an extra supply of heavy clothing and warm overshoes in their automobile, should it become necessary for them to seek assistance in a storm.

When frostbite is suspected, bring the victim into a warm room to allow gentle thawing. This can best be done by immersing the frostbitten area in tepid water. Do not rub or massage the frozen part of the body too vigorously. This may break the delicate skin and expose it to infection.

A technique that has been used by some people has absolutely no justification. The application of ice or snow to the frozen part has no medical value and in fact is exceedingly hazardous. It must be remembered that a frostbitten leg or arm is far less sensitive than a normal one. Extremes of heat are not felt and the application of hot water bags may cause severe burns and further damage the underlying tissue. Do too little rather than too much in heroic attempts to help a victim of frostbite.

A physician's direction by telephone, if one is not available, is imperative. The doctor may suggest antibiotics, anticoagulants and other drugs which now are helpful in preventing the complications of frostbite.

Sensible anticipation for workers, hunters and skiers of the possibility of rapid changes in temperature can avoid this unnecessary injury to the body.

No Amnesty For Students In OSU Clash

COLUMBUS (AP) — Franklin County Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson said Thursday he would not consider an amnesty for 34 former Ohio State University students indicted in the takeover of the administration building last year.

The proposal was made by state Rep. Phaele Hale of Columbus, a minister and civil rights leader who contended there was racial overtones in the charges against the Negroes.

One grand jury indicted them on a trespassing charge which later was dropped. A separate grand jury indicted them on a kidnapping charge, alleging the dissidents forcibly detained OSU officials and staff members inside the building last April 26.

"There were also white students in the building, but they were not indicted," Hale said, adding that OSU officials were free to come and go.

Two of the indicted Negroes, William Kilgore and Cynthia Zachary, have been chosen by the university to help recruit minority citizens as professors, especially Negroes.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Guns, butter, a surplus and a reminder were the chief ingredients of Lyndon Johnson's proposed budget, his final one and, at $193.5 billion, his largest offered as President of the United States.

Two of the ingredients, guns and butter, are familiar in Johnson recipes. Twice before he had raised Social Security benefits, for example, and now he proposes another. And a Vietnam outlay of $25.7 billion wasn't unexpected.

The reminder, a poignant remembrance of his accomplishments, and the surplus, were the new components.

To many conservative citizens, the prospect of a $3.4 billion surplus might sound refreshing, coming as it does after big deficits. But this is only a proposal for another president, Mr. Nixon. Changes will be made.

The reminder was addressed to Americans who might forget what Lyndon Johnson did for his country, who might not appreciate the record he built, a record he evaluated himself as "an impressive one."

The guns and butter—guns for prosecuting the war and protecting American interests elsewhere, and butter for enriching the domestic life—symbolized to some people a dichotomy in the Johnson leadership.

As a man who was domestically oriented by origins, training and experience, Johnson seemingly would not or could not forego expensive domestic programs even though trouble abroad was draining the nation's finances.

As a result, the United States spent itself into a dangerous whirlpool of inflation, attempting to pay not only for heavy foreign expenses but for a huge domestic program that was called the Great Society.

Tremendous economic strides were made under Johnson in lifting families out of poverty, in caring for the sick, in making the elderly financially secure, in finding jobs for the unskilled, and even in raising corporate profits.

"We have witnessed a period of unprecedented economic growth," the President said, "with expanded production, rising standards of living, and the lowest rates of unemployment in a decade and a half."

But a great price was exacted.

At the beginning of the Johnson administration inflation was not a serious problem. At the close, consumer prices are rising at nearly 5 per cent a year, the highest rate in 17 years.

In the final months of his administration Johnson worked hard to bring spending into line with revenues. And, helped by an influx of revenues from an unexpectedly booming economy, he reached his goal.

The balance was barely reached in time, however, for the American balance of payments situation—that is, the relation of American spending abroad to foreign spending here—deteriorated dangerously.

Because of heavy spending in Vietnam and Europe and elsewhere, billions of American dollars were left in foreigners' hands. American corporations hoped to win these dollars back through product sales. But inflation hurt their chances.

The dollar, symbol of the nation's financial strength and integrity, was attacked as overvalued. Foreigners who had been holding dollars despite their distrust of paper, now rushed to turn them in for gold.

Not only was faith lost in the dollar, but the international monetary system seemed in danger of collapsing. Many factors contributed, including the system's inflexibility. But the keystone dollar's weakness was one of the chief dangers.

Because of this inflation—and because the awakened spirit of the underprivileged was expressed in disorder, because the war made some people cynical, and because many believed the quality of life had deteriorated—the good that Johnson achieved was shadowed by clouds as his term ended. And so the President, experiencing perhaps more criticism than praise, felt it necessary to remind America of his accomplishments, to extoll his own record.

According to Boyle

By JOE WING
(For Bob Thomas)

NEW YORK (AP)—Back in Lincoln, Neb., where I come from, there used to be an old cigar store, not far from the center of town, that featured chess and sandwiches.

The sandwiches were all right and you could get a pretty good lunch for two bits but the chess was extraordinary. Nothing cloistered about it.

To play in that company, the special skills required were temporary deafness, to shut out the exhortations of kibitzers, and ability to figure out chess combinations under the pressure of outspoken heckling. If you were a weak character you might even find the kibitzers moving the pieces for you.

When the proprietor decided to make the best of a raucous situation by charging a dime a game, the customers thinned out a little. But I never did get up the nerve to play a game there.

It was only natural nevertheless that when I came to New York I should gravitate to the chess parlor on the third floor of a dingy old building near the center of town at 42nd and Broadway. I still go there.

There, after pushing through crowds of tourists and mincing homos and gawkers and ladies on the prowl, you find a large bare room lighted by unshaded bulbs and strewn with chess tables and players and empty coffee cups, and kibitzers.

You can buy sandwiches at the parlor too and while away an evening watching characters thrust and parry across the checkered boards, at 40 cents an hour apiece, while taking an occasional glance at other characters straggling into the girls movies across the street.

Some of the players look as if they might feel more at home in the Bowery. Others are aggressive types from the Seventh Avenue garment district around the corner. Or college students who have brought time clocks to simulate tournament conditions. There are also business men relaxing. . . unidentified strays. . . and me.

After some thousands of hours spent on the weaker side of a chess board, I have the nerve now to ask the gimlet-eyed major domo to arrange a game for me. "Beginner?" he asks.

"About medium," I reply cautiously.

He points to a haggard, unshaven, rumpled old man, who sizes me up quickly.

"Dollar a game," he says. I know immediately I've had it. Anybody under those glaring lights who proposes a dollar a game certainly has no expectation of losing his dollar. He probably counts on it for whiskey money.

But it's Friday night and you're rich so you accept the challenge. The game hasn't advanced 10 moves before you're in more difficulties than you can account for. Ten more, he grabs your queen and it's all over.

"Got catch a train," you explain hurriedly despite his protests, dropping a dollar bill and starting down the two smelly flights of steps. And going to the subway you wonder why in the last 35 years or so you haven't pushed aside less essential matters, like holding down a job, and really sharpened up on your chess. You might be making whiskey money that way too.

Retired Catholic Priest Defends Church

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer
VERSAILES, Ky. (AP)—“Disobedience and the like starts in the home and it goes out into church life and civic life,” says a 90-year-old retired Catholic priest.

“Today, you have more obedient parents than you have obedient children,” the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Herbert F. Hillenmeyer said in an interview.

Msgr. Hillenmeyer, a priest for 66 years, has retired from a Fort Thomas, Ky., pastorate to become chaplain of a nursing home here, but his interest in the world's problems still is keen.

In rapid succession, he expounded his views on such controversial topics as the Pope's encyclical on birth control, civic disobedience and delinquency.

“The Holy Father's pronouncement was nothing new,” Msgr. Hillenmeyer said, “just a reaffirmation of the general attitude of the church.”

“There is still charity in the world. I don't say it is devoid of charity, but it's growing less and less and less,” he said.

Msgr. Hillenmeyer said it is easier to understand “the laity, at least some of them,” rejecting the Pope's stand against birth control, but he thinks it shocking that priests would rebel.

“Years ago, a priest rebelling against the authority of the bishop, why that was an unheard of thing...”

“I look at it this way: whatever I have as a priest to administer the sacraments, I have from the church. The Church doesn't owe me anything, but I owe the Church a whole lot.”

The spirit of disobedience and rebellion on college campuses and in the streets also confounds Msgr. Hillenmeyer.

“These men who kick over their traces, why when they became priests they weren't dragged into it. They knew the responsibility and the condition,” Msgr. Hillenmeyer said.

All of these problems, he said, stem from early home life. “You just ask the sisters who teach in the schools. They'll tell you how much easier it was to teach children 25-30 years ago than today.”

“This lack of early training, he said, leads to breaking of laws.”

“I saw in the paper the other day where someone broke into a school and destroyed all kinds of things.”

“Years ago, I don't say people didn't break in places, but when they did, at least there was a reason. They wanted to steal some money or something else.”

“But to break into a school just to destroy it, well, I don't know what it's coming to.”

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

She's Just Not The 'Mingling Kind'

DEAR ABBY: For years several of us women in the neighborhood have had coffee together regularly. A newcomer has joined our group and she is our problem.

Abby, you know how women are. They talk about different things, and people, and so on. Well, nobody can say a word about anything without Mrs. Newcomer butting in with, “Were you there? Can you prove it? From where do you get your information?”

This puts a crimp in our coffee parties as no one wants to go on the witness stand and take an oath on a Bible that what she says is gospel.

We would like to drop Mrs. Newcomer from our group as she is not our kind. But how?

OLD TIMERS

DEAR OLD TIMERS: I doubt if you will be troubled with Mrs. Newcomer much longer, for she will soon conclude that YOU are not HER kind. And frankly, if I HAD to choose between her company and yours, I'd choose hers.

DEAR ABBY: When my married daughter visits me I always give her the best sleeping accommodations in the house, but when I visit her for a few weeks she puts me on her davenport or any make-shift place.

This year she has written to say that if I come again this winter, she will put me in her unfinished, unheated attic room. There is no bath on that floor and I had a stroke two years ago which makes walking stairs difficult for me. Also I have weak kidneys and need to use the bathroom during the night.

My daughter is kind and good in other respects, but I am terribly hurt by these sleeping arrangements and am thinking strongly of not visiting her this winter. What would you do?

HURT MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I would stay home.

DEAR ABBY: I have written to you several times before but have yet to see one of my letters in the paper so will be surprised if I see this one.

The letter signed “Rube's Wife” has prompted me to write now. I know what that lady means when she says she feels that her husband was cheated as far as affection from her is concerned, as I, myself would much rather go to bed with a good book than with my husband. How we ever happened to have three children I can't figure out.

It would not bother me one bit if my husband came home and told me he had found a nice woman about his own age who was able to give him more love and affection than I can. I would ask only, “Is she clean?” Then I would just go out and get another book, and say, like Rube's wife, “No one would have to know.”

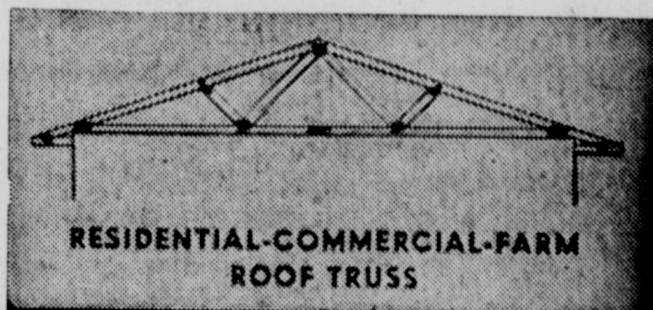

Sign me “BOOKWORM”

DEAR ABBY: This is for “STUMPED,” who didn't know what to say when she was asked why her husband didn't go to church with his family.

“STUMPED” said she wasn't happy to be married to a heathen. Abby, one is not a heathen simply because he doesn't go to church. A person can go to church every day in the week and twice on Sundays, but if he doesn't have God in his heart and respect for his fellow man, all his going is for naught. I know such people, and I have more respect for stay-at-home believers than church-going hypocrites. Sign me....

Retired Catholic Priest Defends Church

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer
VERSAILLES, Ky. (AP)— "Disobedience and the like starts in the home and it goes out into church life and civic life," says a 90-year-old retired Catholic priest.

"Today, you have more obedient parents than you have obedient children," the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Herbert F. Hillenmeyer said in an interview.

Msgr. Hillenmeyer, a priest for 66 years, has retired from a Fort Thomas, Ky., pastorate to become chaplain of a nursing home here, but his interest in the world's problems still is keen.

In rapid succession, he expounded his views on such controversial topics as the Pope's encyclical on birth control, civic disobedience and delinquency.

"The Holy Father's pronouncement was nothing new," Msgr. Hillenmeyer said, "just a reaffirmation of the general attitude of the church."

Priests' rebellion against the edict, like other problems facing the modern world, stem from a lack of obedience and a decreasing amount of charity in the world, Msgr. Hillenmeyer believes.

"There is still charity in the world. I don't say it is devoid of charity, but it's growing less and less and less," he said.

Msgr. Hillenmeyer said it is easier to understand "the laity, at least some of them," rejecting the Pope's stand against birth control, but he thinks it shocking that priests would rebel.

"Years ago, a priest rebelling against the authority of the bishop, why that was an unheard of thing... "I look at it this way: whatever I have as a priest to administer the sacraments, I have from the church. The Church doesn't owe me anything, but I owe the Church a whole lot."

The spirit of disobedience and rebellion on college campuses and in the streets also confounds Msgr. Hillenmeyer.

Then there is the increase in recent years of priests leaving the church, many of them because Catholic doctrine forbids the clergy to marry.

"You have to remember that the Lord chose 12 apostles—he handpicked them...and even our blessed Lord had one traitor among his 12.

"These men who kick over their traces, why when they became priests they weren't dragged into it. They knew the responsibility and the condition," Msgr. Hillenmeyer said. All of these problems, he said, stem from early home life. "You just ask the sisters who teach in the schools. They'll tell you how much easier it was to teach children 25-30 years ago than today."

This lack of early training, he said, leads to breaking of laws. "I saw in the paper the other day where someone broke into a school and destroyed all kinds of things.

"Years ago, I don't say people didn't break in places, but when they did, at least there was a reason. They wanted to steal some money or something else.

"But to break into a school just to destroy it, well, I don't know what it's coming to..."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

She's Just Not The 'Mingling Kind'

DEAR ABBY: For years several of us women in the neighborhood have had coffee together regularly. A newcomer has joined our group and she is our problem.

Abby, you know how women are. They talk about different things, and people, and so on. Well, nobody can say a word about anything without Mrs. Newcomer butting in with, "Were you there? Can you prove it? From where do you get your information?"

This puts a crimp in our coffee parties as no one wants to go on the witness stand and take an oath on a Bible that what she says is gospel.

We would like to drop Mrs. Newcomer from our group as she is not our kind. But how?

OLD TIMERS
DEAR OLD TIMERS: I doubt if you will be troubled with Mrs. Newcomer much longer, for she will soon conclude that YOU are not HER kind. And frankly, if I had to choose between her company and yours, I'd choose hers.

DEAR ABBY: When my married daughter visits me I always give her the best sleeping accommodations in the house, but when I visit her for a few weeks she puts me on her davenport or any make-shift place.

This year she has written to say that if I come again this winter, she will put me in her unfinished, unheated attic room. There is no bath on that floor and I had a stroke two years ago which makes walking stairs difficult for me. Also I have weak kidneys and need to use the bathroom during the night.

My daughter is kind and good in other respects, but I am terribly hurt by these sleeping arrangements and am thinking strongly of not visiting her this winter. What would you do?

HURT MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I would stay home.

DEAR ABBY: I have written to you several times before but have yet to see one of my letters in the paper so will be surprised if I see this one.

The letter signed "Rube's Wife" has prompted me to write now. I know what that lady means when she says she feels that her husband was cheated as far as affection from her is concerned, as I, myself would much rather go to bed with a good book than with my husband. How we ever happened

State To Take Over Highway Snow Clearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways reported Thursday that its division 8 will take over snow and ice control for approximately 100 miles of highway, mainly I-71 in the Cincinnati area for the duration of a strike by Cincinnati public employees.

The action requested Wednesday by Arthur D. Bird, director of public works in Cincinnati, the department said.

Highway officials declared the action was taken because they charged the unions were striking in defiance of a court injunction and that they had stated that snow and ice was considered an inconvenience rather than an emergency.

Scott Named Dean

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. David B. Scott has been appointed dean of Case Western Reserve University's School of Dentistry, effective Feb. 1. He will succeed Dr. Paul E. Boyle, who will continue as dean emeritus.

Your inquiring mind

CHECK THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS THAT YOU MAY HAVE ASKED YOURSELF:

- () Can there be more to life than eating, sleeping, studying, working and playing?
- () What is the purpose of my life?
- () What is prayer for? Does it really work?
- () Does God really exist? Can I know Him personally?

If you checked any of these questions, you're the kind of person who "knows" that life should be more than just living. You have an inquiring mind — one that wants to know what life is all about.

You've asked yourself some pretty important questions. Now follow through. Come to church regularly, and get the answers from God.

State To Take Over Highway Snow Clearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways reported Thursday that its division 8 will take over snow and ice control for approximately 100 miles of highway, mainly I-71 in the Cincinnati area for the duration of a strike by Cincinnati public employees.

The action requested Wednesday by Arthur D. Bird, director of public works in Cincinnati, the department said.

Highway officials declared the action was taken because they charged the unions were striking in defiance of a court injunction and that they had stated that snow and ice was considered an inconvenience rather than an emergency.

Scott Named Dean

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. David B. Scott has been appointed dean of Case Western Reserve University's School of Dentistry, effective Feb. 1. He will succeed Dr. Paul E. Boyle, who will continue as dean emeritus.

your inquiring mind

CHECK THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS THAT YOU MAY HAVE ASKED YOURSELF:

- () Can there be more to life than eating, sleeping, studying, working and playing?
- () What is the purpose of my life?
- () What is prayer for? Does it really work?
- () Does God really exist? Can I know Him personally?

If you checked any of these questions, you're the kind of person who "knows" that life should be more than just living. You have an inquiring mind — one that wants to know what life is all about.

You've asked yourself some pretty important questions. Now follow through. Come to church regularly, and get the answers from God.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Cabinet-level report to President Johnson warns that the United States faces a possible recession when the Vietnam war ends, and urges that the government be ready with an action plan to stop it.

The report, sent to Congress today by the President, said the economy would be subjected to the same deflationary pressures that followed the Korean War.

While not predicting any date for an end to hostilities in Vietnam, the committee of top White House advisers based estimates on an assumption that the transition to peace could be essentially completed by July 1, 1971—in other words, the start of the 1972 fiscal year.

The report said that if the current 10 per cent income surtax is still in effect when the fighting ends, earlier phase-out of the tax could help offset any recession and promote healthy economic growth. It also urged that a detailed plan to speed up government spending on high priority projects be prepared now to cushion the impact of the transition from a war to peace economy.

The report warned that peace could come in a number of ways. Hostilities might decline gradually, requiring reduced expenditures, or there could be a lengthy armed truce which would not permit a significant reduction of U. S. forces in Southeast Asia.

But on its assumption that within six months after a truce there would be a genuine assurance on peace and the beginning of a full withdrawal of U. S. troops, the report gave the following estimates for a rapid demobilization:

—The U. S. armed services would decline by 800,000 persons, averaging 200,000 a quarter, starting in the third quarter after the truce.

—Civilian personnel in the Defense Department would be reduced by 170,000 during that same period.

—As a result of manpower reduction, military and civilian compensation would be reduced by $7 billion by the end of 18 months.

—Other operating expenditures would drop by $4 billion over a slightly longer period.

—Expenditures for procurement would be reduced by $8 billion over an interval of 30 months.

The report thus estimated that defense spending would be reduced $8 billion by the end of 12 months, $16 billion by the end of 18 months, and $19 billion at the end of 30 months.

Among suggested new programs the report recommended a negative income tax, which it said could make major inroads on poverty while preserving work incentives, at a cost of $15 billion to $20 billion a year. It would still need to be reinforced by housing, health, education and job training.

Another proposal was for an urban development bank, also mentioned in Johnson's final budget.

The Red and Black Food, Future Are Matters Of Concern To Students

By JAN CLIFTON and CARLA LEIGH

Food and the future are subjects CHS students were asked to comment on this week. Last week the cooks in CHS cafeteria began serving two different lunches a day. Students and faculty now have a choice between a "hot" or "cold" lunch. What do they think about the idea? Opinions are varied.

Mindy Wood — "I think it's a good idea, because a lot of kids who are on diets didn't eat before."

Dan Smith — "It would be better if you could get either lunch in the same line."

Rick Sims — "I think it's a good idea, because it adds variety to all the lunches."

Jackie Ullman — "I don't know."

Chris MacKenzie — "Decent."

Dave Sadler — "I don't eat lunch."

Mel Smith — "I think they're getting better."

Frankie Carter — "They are about the same."

Ruth Ann Rihl — "They're nice for weight watchers."

Jim Ballou — "I wouldn't know — I don't eat lunch. I save money for other things."

Mrs. Greenwood — "Keep it up! We're really enjoying the lunches."

Mr. LaRue — "I think it's a good idea. It would be nice if they would have other selections too!"

"What do you plan to do after graduation" was the question asked of a few of CHS's 1969 graduates. They replied:

Dan Smith — Plans to attend Miami Dade Junior College in Miami, Fla.

Holly Bach — Will attend Ohio University branch for one year, and hopes to attend TWA stewardess training.

Jackie Ullman — Otterbein College.

Dave Sadler — Bowling Green State University.

Bill Joyce — Miami Dade Junior College.

Wes Jones — Career Academy, Columbus.

Peggy Mayo — Nationwide Cosmetology School.

Jim Ballou — Columbus Technical Institute.

Patty Glitt — Some sort of airline work. Haven't decided.

Will Bost — Plans to further education. Hasn't decided what or where.

Steve Stonerock — IBM school.

Joe Tomlinson — Ohio State.

Bev Thompson — Ohio State.

Frankie Carter — College. Haven't decided where yet.

Scholar Test Date Near For Juniors

Juniors who expect to complete their secondary requirements and to enter college in 1970 can register now to participate in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship Program. Principal Paul Sarchet announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test (NMQT). The test will be given in the school at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 18.

Participating students pay a $1.25 fee. If an unusually promising student is unable to pay the test fee, it will be paid by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) at the request of his school.

When his NMQT scores are reported, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him evaluate his scores, compare his performance with that of other school students across the country, and give him information on choosing a college and financing his education. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished as a part of reporting the test results.

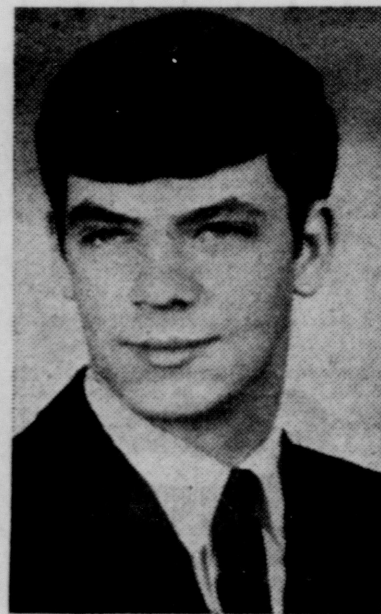

The highest-scoring students in each state will be named semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. In addition to the National Merit Scholarships financed by NMSC, more than 250 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, other organizations and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program.

Interested students should sign-up in the guidance office now.

Dave Kasler, Linda Hill Are CHS's DE Students Of Week

DAVE KASLER

LINDA HILL

By HOLLY BACH and PATTY GLITT

Dave Kasler and Linda Hill are the students of the week for the Circleville distributive education group.

Linda Hill resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey J. Hill, at 504 Stella Ave.

Besides being very active in DECA II, she likes sewing, Wendell, '55' Chevys, her dog Pedie, and being a cosmetologist at Nationwide Beauty Academy.

She was chairman for DECA I and also on a prom committee her junior year. Now, as a senior in DECA, II, she is co-chairman for the social committee.

DE is very important to Linda. She believes that "It is a strong and vital factor in our economy. It is a healthy, growing American venture, which can prove to be successful for everyone."

When asked how DE has helped her and if she feels DE is essential in a high school, she replied, "DECA helped me meet the business world and know more about selling and people in general." DE is essential in high school because "it gives a person more responsibility," she continued.

Dave Kasler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kasler, took DE so he would be able to go to school half a day and work the other half to make a little extra money," Dave, his parents,

Track Team Starts Practice

By JOE TOMLINSON

The Circleville High School track team is off to a good start with practices every day after school in the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Typical practices consist of 15 minutes of jogging; 25 minutes each of jumping jacks, push-ups and set-ups; 15 minutes of leg raises along with 20 minutes of stretching exercises followed by 10 minutes of jogging; then sprints and winding up with another 10 minute jog.

Draft Is Vital Issue To Seniors

By JIM BALLOU

When asked recently of their opinion of the draft, senior boys gave comments such as these:

Bill Joyce — "The draft isn't bad until you're 18."

Joe Tomlinson — "It's like a big brother, always bugging you."

Rick Sims — "Insures you of a job after high school."

Mark Ralston — "At least you are free until you are 18."

Phil Diehl — "They should start drafting girls."

Mike Humphries — "I think it's a good thing, but not for me."

Clyde Brumfield — "If a boy isn't doing too good in school, it's all right because it keeps him out of trouble."

Mike Young — "It gives you a reason to go to Canada."

Dave Hopkins — "It is a good way to get a free ticket to Vietnam."

Teacher Feature

By DEBBIE HEISKELL

This week's highlight is Circleville's Junior High science teacher, Miss Agnes Ice, who resides at 215 1/2 N. Scioto St.

Miss Ice attended Jackson High School where she was active in Tri-Hi-Y and chairman of several committees. She was graduated in 1963 from Ohio University where she majored in zoology.

Last summer Miss Ice taught at Riverside School for Girls in Columbus. She taught girls whose ages ranged from 15-20. Miss Ice said it was a very rewarding job and that she would like to return to teach this summer.

When asked what her first impression of the school was, she replied, "I think it is a fine school and a nice place to work."

Miss Ice's main pet peeve is large study halls. Her favorite pastimes include spending a lot of time with her fiancé and going to movies with him.

Miss Ice's philosophy of teaching is "accepting all the questions and answers the students give to me."

Mary Gearhart Is Local Homemaker Of Tomorrow

Mary Pat Gearhart has been named 1969 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Circleville High School on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude test on homemaking given senior girls here Dec. 3.

MARY PAT GEARHART

Mary Pat's achievement has made her eligible for state and national scholarships. She also has been awarded a specially designed silver charm from General Mills, sponsor of the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

A state Homemaker of Tomorrow and runner-up will be selected from the winners of the schools in the state. The state winner will receive a $1,500 college scholarship, and her school will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopedia Britannica by Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. The runner-up will earn a $500 educational grant.

The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow from this state, together with those from all other states and the District of Columbia, each accompanied by a school advisor, will join in an expense paid educational tour of Washington, D. C., and Colonial Williamsburg, Va., next spring.

The national winner the 1969 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow — will be announced at an American Table dinner in Williamsburg. The choice will be on the basis of her original test score plus personal observation and interviews during the tour, and her scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth ranking Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will have their original scholarship grants increased to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

This is the 15th year of the Betty Crocker Search, initiated in 1954-55 by General Mills to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career. More than six million senior girls have participated in the Search program since its inception, and 1,460 winners will have earned scholarships totaling $1,591,539 at the conclusion of the current program.

The 630,564 girls from 15,116 schools registering for the 1969 Betty Crocker Search established a new record for the program.

Dennis Russell Is Assistant Scout Master

By DAN SMITH

Troop 170's Assistant Scout Master Dennis Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edward Russell, lives at Route 3.

A senior at Circleville High School he has three hobbies. First of his hobbies is tying fishing flies. He has been tying dry flies for about two years and has fished both in Ohio and Michigan. The largest fish he has caught was three and one-half pound bass on a black granite fly.

The second hobby is fossil collecting. Dennis says that as long as he can remember he has collected fossils. He has collected fossils in most of the northern states, but most of his findings come from around Chillicothe, Lake White and Mammoth Cave, Ky.

Dennis also carves wooden objects. He has carved neckerchief slides for the Boy Scouts as well as all kinds of head figures.

The Red and Black Food, Future Are Matters Of Concern To Students

By JAN CLIFTON and CARLA LEIGH

Food and the future are subjects CHS students were asked to comment on this week. Last week the cooks in CHS cafeteria began serving two different lunches a day. Students and faculty now have a choice between a "hot" or "cold" lunch. What do they think about the idea? Opinions are varied!

Mindy Wood — "I think it's a good idea, because a lot of kids who are on diets didn't eat before."

Dan Smith — "It would be better if you could get either lunch in the same line."

Rick Sims — "I think it's a good idea, because it adds variety to all the lunches."

Jackie Ullman — "I don't know."

Chris MacKenzie — "Decent."

Dave Sadler — "I don't eat lunch."

Mel Smith — "I think they're getting better."

Frankie Carter — "They are about the same."

Ruth Ann Rihl — "They're nice for weight watchers."

Jim Ballou — "I wouldn't know — I don't eat lunch. I save money for other things."

Mrs. Greenwood — "Keep it up! We're really enjoying the lunches."

Mr. LaRue — "I think it's a good idea. It would be nice if they would have other selections too!"

"What do you plan to do after graduation" was the question asked of a few of CHS's 1969 graduates. They replied:

Dan Smith — Plans to attend Miami Dade Junior College in Miami, Fla.

Holly Bach — Will attend Ohio University branch for one year, and hopes to attend TWA stewardess training.

Ruth Ann Rihl — Otterbein College.

Dave Sadler — Bowling Green State University.

Bill Joyce — Miami Dade Junior College.

Jackie Ullman — Western College, Oxford.

Wes Jones — Career Academy, Columbus.

Peggy Mayo — Nationwide Cosmetology School.

Jim Ballou — Columbus Technical Institute.

Patty Glitt — Some sort of airline work. Haven't decided.

Will Bost — Plans to further education. Hasn't decided what or where.

Steve Stonerock — IBM school

Joe Tomlinson — Ohio State

Bev Thompson — Ohio State.

Frankie Carter — College. Haven't decided where yet.

Scholar Test Date Near For Juniors

Juniors who expect to complete their secondary requirements and to enter college in 1970 can register now to participate in the 1969-70 National Merit Scholarship Program. Principal Paul Sarchet announced today.

The first step for all students who wish to enter the nationwide competition is to take the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test (NMQST). The test will be given in the school at 8:30 a.m. Feb. 15.

Participating students pay a $1.25 fee. If an unusually promising student is unable to pay the test fee, it will be paid by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC) at the request of his school.

When his NMST scores are reported, each participating student will receive a handbook to help him evaluate his scores, compare his performance with that of other school students across the country, and give him information on choosing a college and financing his education. The handbook and other interpretive materials are furnished as a part of reporting the test results.

The highest-scoring students in each state will be named semifinalists and will be eligible for Merit Scholarship consideration. In addition to the National Merit Scholarships financed by NMSC, more than 250 business corporations, foundations, colleges, professional associations, unions, trusts, other organizations and individuals offer scholarships through the Merit Program.

Interested students should sign-up in the guidance office now.

Dave Kasler, Linda Hill Are CHS's DE Students Of Week

DAVE KASLER

By HOLLY BACH and PATTY GLITT

Dave Kasler and Linda Hill are the students of the week for the Circleville distributive education group.

Linda Hill resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey J. Hill, at 504 Stella Ave.

Besides being very active in DECA II, she likes sewing, Wendell, '55' Chevys, her dog Pedie, and being a cosmetologist at Nationwide Beauty Academy.

She was chaplain for DECA I and also on a prom committee her junior year. Now, as a senior in DECA II, she is co-chairman for the social committee.

DE is very important to Linda. She believes that "It is a strong and vital factor in our economy. It is a healthy, growing American venture, which can prove to be successful for everyone."

When asked how DE has helped her and if she feels DE is essential in a high school, she replied, "DECA helped me meet the business world and know more about selling and people in general." DE is essential in high school because "it gives a person more responsibility," she continued.

Dave Kasler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kasler, took DE so he would be able to "go to school half a day and work the other half to make a little extra money." Dave, his parents, and three brothers, Max, Rodney and Philip, reside at 325 Edwards Road.

LINDA HILL

Dave is currently employed by Western Auto. He feels that "DE offers a student some valuable experience with the retailing business and with meeting the public."

When Dave is not working he enjoys working on cars, especially wrecked Corvairs, and riding his cycle in the freezing rain. Dave is also active in Key Club and DECA.

Draft Is Vital Issue To Seniors

By JIM BALLOU

When asked recently of their opinion of the draft, senior boys gave comments such as these:

Bill Joyce — "The draft isn't bad until you're 18."

Joe Tomlinson — "It's like a big brother, always bugging you."

Rick Sims — "Insures you of a job after high school."

Mark Ralston — "At least you are free until you are 18."

Phil Diehl — "They should start drafting girls."

Mike Humphries — "I think it's a good thing, but not for me."

Mike Young — "It gives you a reason to go to Canada."

Dave Hopkins — "It is a good way to get a free ticket to Vietnam."

Teacher Feature

By DEBBIE HEISKELL

This week's highlight is Circleville's Junior High science teacher, Miss Agnes Ice, who resides at 215½ N. Scioto St.

Miss Ice attended Jackson High School where she was active in Tri-Hi-Y and chairman of several committees. She was graduated in 1968 from Ohio University where she majored in zoology.

Last summer Miss Ice taught at Riverside School for Girls in Columbus. She taught girls whose ages ranged from 15-20. Miss Ice said it was a very rewarding job and that she would like to return to teach this summer.

When asked what her first impression of the school was, she replied, "I think it is a fine school and a nice place to work."

Miss Ice's main pet peeve is large study halls. Her favorite pastimes include spending a lot of time with her fiance and going to movies with him.

Miss Ice's philosophy of teaching is "accepting all the questions and answers the students give to me."

The SOS will hold a smorgasbord Jan. 24, before the game. Come and eat all you want!

Student Of The Week

JUDY BARGINEAR

By JAN CLIFTON

A new student has come to CHS from Okinawa, an island near Japan. She is Judy Barginear, a sophomore, who lives on E. Main St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barginear, and three sisters, Julie, Joanne and Jenny.

When asked how she came to Circleville, Judy said her father is stationed at Lockbourne AFB. Since the family has a close friend here, it was decided to live in town.

The schools in Okinawa seem to be quite different. The junior high school was a converted prisoner of war building. The high school teachers were mostly American, with the exception of a few Okinawans. When asked the location of the school, Judy said, "It was the only high school on the island, so it was centrally located. Some kids had to ride a bus for one and a half hours. I was lucky — I only rode it for about fifteen minutes."

Her opinion of the island is "It is different. When I am married I can tell my children about what it is like to really be there."

Judy thinks CHS is nice, but will like it more after she gets to know more people. She says the students are "friendly and easy to get along with," but she has "no set ideas" about the teachers yet. Judy's favorite subject is algebra. Her hobbies include horseback riding and reading.

Speed Expected To Be Key To NFL West's Offensive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Speed may be the key if the west is to outscore the east, in Sunday's National Football League All-Star game in Memorial Coliseum.

West Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams worked with his several swift performers Friday as workouts faded off for both his squad and the East, piloted by Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

"We have great speed in the receiving positions, more so than last year, and nothing is more important than that in an all-star game," Allen observed.

He singled out for particular attention Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers, the League's leading pass receiver. The slender fellow, a Cleveland castoff, caught 71 passes for 995 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

Allen has only to go back to the 49er-Ram exhibition game last season when McNeil early in the evening shocked his team with a 94-yard touchdown run on a flip from John Brodie.

The names of Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers, a former Ram before Allen came here, who oddly enough is playing in his first Pro Bowl contest, and Willie Richardson of the Baltimore Colts, were ticked off by the coach.

Also mentioned with frank admiration was Baltimore's John Mackey, who for this 224-pound size is astonishingly fast and once in motion, as difficult to haul down as a runaway steer.

Allen confirmed that Baltimore's Earl Morrall will start at quarterback.

"There are two reasons why I want Earl in there," he said. "First, he's the Player of the Year in the National Football League. You don't get an honor like that without earning it."

"Second, of all the quarterbacks I've defended, nobody does a better job of mixing up plays. Earl has a very good sense for the mix—by which I mean runs, passes, draws and screens. He also throws the ball well."

The Ram's Roman Gabriel will alternate with Morrall. Allen noted that Gabriel has had two fine back-to-back seasons. Not too many quarterbacks achieve this, he concluded.

Farmers and Sportsmen Plan Pheasant Raising Program

The Pickaway County Farmers and Sportsmen Assn. voted Thursday to promote a pheasant raising program in 1969.

The wildlife conservation group decided to obtain 500 six-week old birds in early spring. The birds will be cared for by the organization and released in the fall.

The pen for rearing the birds will be located on county owned property at the old children's home. During last night's meeting, films of the 1968 pheasant program were shown by Dick Redman, club secretary.

Redman presented National Rifle Assn. medals and gun tie clasps to members who shot high scores in 1968.

THEY were: .45 caliber pistol, 25 yards — Paul Eastman, Bill Fraas, Dick Redman. 22 caliber rifle, 50 yards — Paul Eastman, Jerry Schadle, Edwin Hart. 30 caliber rifle, 200 yards — Wilbur Graham, Dick Redman, Jerry Schadle.

The club is planning to award a trophy to the best 22 caliber shooter in a handgun class for 1969. Members will start firing sessions at the Feb. 20 meeting.

New firearms regulations pertaining to the purchase of firearms, ammunition and components for reloading cartridges were discussed at the meeting.

Entries in the club's game contest include moose, deer, bear, pheasant, grouse, fish and fox. The contest ends March 1. A first place trophy will be given in each category.

At the Feb. 20 meeting, Tom Weldon, local game protector, will show color slides on the coho salmon program.

Tiger Frosh Top Mt. Logan

The Circleville freshman basketball team defeated Chillicothe Mt. Logan on the losers' floor Thursday, 38-37.

The little Tigers held a 22-13 halftime lead, faltered in the third quarter to trail, 33-27, and then came from behind for the win.

The Tigers started the game playing a man to man defense and did a good job against everybody but Rob White, the game's leading scorer with 20 points. He had 10 of his team's 13 first half points.

In the third quarter, Coach Dannie Fouts had his cagers go into a zone, hoping to throttle White's game. The zone defense not only failed to stop White, it opened other scoring opportunities for Mt. Logan and they poured 20 points through the hoops while Circleville got only five.

IN the final period, the Tigers switched back to a man to man. Richie Speakman scored two quick layups at the beginning of the fourth quarter, and then Rick Blankenship tied the score. The Tigers and the hosts battled back and forth for the rest of the quarter.

With 38 seconds to go, the score was tied at 37-37. Jim Neal was fouled with 28 seconds to play, and made the first shot on a one and one situation, but missed the second.

Mt. Logan got the rebound, but a foul was immediately committed by Circleville. The Chillicothe player missed, and a Circleville player was fouled in the act of shooting. He missed both chances at the foul line, and Circleville got the ball. There was a jump ball with just two seconds to play.

Don Valentine was Circleville's leading scorer with 13 points. Blankenship had 11 and Neal 10.

Circleville has a 4-4 record for the season.

The Tigers connected on 14 of 35 field goal attempts, a 40 per cent accuracy mark. During the game. They made 10 of 23 foul shots and pulled down 32 rebounds.

Santa Clara Beats UC, 80-69

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Five of the nation's leading college basketball scorers were in action Thursday night but the quintet the Santa Clara Broncos put on the court had much better results.

Niagara's Calvin Murphy, Creighton's Bob Portman, Charley Powell of New Orleans Loyola and Furman's Dick Esleeck couldn't lead their teams to victory, but the unbeaten and third-ranked Broncos kept bucking along, whipping the University of California at Santa Barbara 80-69 for their 15th straight.

Dennis Awtery, Santa Clara's 6-foot-9 center, poured in 30 points and the Ogden brothers, Bud and Ralph, had 18 apiece as the Broncos ran their West Coast athletic Conference record to 4-0.

The only other team in The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action was 20th-ranked Colorado State U., which crushed the Air Force 83-65.

Lloyd Kerr hit seven consecutive points late in the first half to put the Rams ahead and they poured it on after the intermission for their 10th win in 12 games. Cliff Shegog took scoring honors with 21 points and Kerr added 14.

Niagara's Murphy, the country's second leading scorer, exploded for 47 points but the Purple Eagles fell to once-beaten Columbia 107-84. The outburst raised Murphy's season average to 35.9 but Pete Maravich of Louisiana State leads with 45.5.

Despite the 47 points, it was Murphy's second poorest shooting night of the season. The flashy 5-10 junior made only 13 of 40 floor shots but added 21 of 22 free throws as Bruce Metz, Elliott Wolfe and Heyward Dotson took turns guarding him.

Jim McMillian, Roger Walaszek and Dotson had 29, 26 and 20 points respectively for Columbia.

Utah State's Marv Roberts, the No. 7 scorer, connected for 27 points as the Aggies downed Denver 102-87.

Arizona held Portman to 17 points as the Wildcats won their seventh consecutive game, beating Creighton 72-63. The nation's eighth leading scorer saw his average drop from 27.5 to 26.5.

Powell had the poorest night of the five individuals, managing only seven points in Loyola's 74-54 loss to Memphis State.

Furman's Esleeck was held to 15 as the Paladins bowed to Clemson 91-70.

In other major games, Utah shaded New Mexico 77-76, Brigham Young downed Wyoming 89-78, San Jose State walloped San Francisco 71-58 and Tulane topped Miami of Florida 90-79.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An international cast of track and field performers, including Australia's Ron Clarke and America's world record breaking long jumper, Bob Beamon, go on display in the Los Angeles Invitational indoor track meet tonight.

Clarke, who admits with a smile that this is "another farewell" appearance here, is entered in the 2-mile. His chief opposition is expected to come from another veteran distance runner, George Young of Casa Grande, Ariz.

Speed Expected To Be Key To NFL West's Offensive

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Speed may be the key if the west is to outscore the east, in Sunday's National Football League All-Star game in Memorial Coliseum.

West Coach George Allen of the Los Angeles Rams worked with his several swift performers Friday as workouts faded off for both his squad and the East, piloted by Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys.

"We have great speed in the receiving positions, more so than last year, and nothing is more important than that in an all-star game," Allen observed.

He singled out for particular attention Clifton McNeil of the San Francisco 49ers, the League's leading pass receiver. The slender fellow, a Cleveland castoff, caught 71 passes for 995 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

Allen has only to go back to the 49er-Ram exhibition game last season when McNeil early in the evening shocked his team with a 94-yard touchdown run on a flip from John Brodie.

The names of Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers, a former Ram before Allen came here, who oddly enough is playing in his first Pro Bowl contest, and Willie Richardson of the Baltimore Colts, were ticked off by the coach.

Also mentioned with frank admiration was Baltimore's John Mackey, who for this 224-pound size is astonishingly fast and once in motion, as difficult to haul down as a runaway steer.

Allen confirmed that Baltimore's Earl Morrall will start at quarterback.

"There are two reasons why I want Earl in there," he said. "First, he's the Player of the Year in the National Football League. You don't get an honor like that without earning it."

"Second, of all the quarterbacks I've defended, nobody does a better job of mixing up plays. Earl has a very good sense for the mix—by which I mean runs passes, draws and screens. He also throws the ball well."

The Ram's Roman Gabriel will alternate with Morrall. Allen noted that Gabriel has had two fine back-to-back seasons. Not too many quarterbacks achieve this, he concluded.

Farmers and Sportsmen Plan Pheasant Raising Program

The Pickaway County Farmers and Sportsmen Assn. voted Thursday to promote a pheasant raising program in 1969.

The wildlife conservation group decided to obtain 500 six-week old birds in early spring. The birds will be cared for by the organization and released in the fall.

The pen for rearing the birds will be located on county owned property at the old children's home. During last night's meeting, films of the 1968 pheasant program were shown by Dick Redman, club secretary.

Redman presented National Rifle Assn. medals and gun tie clasps to members who shot high scores in 1968.

The club is planning to award a trophy to the best 22 caliber shooter in a handgun class for 1969. Members will start firing sessions at the Feb. 20 meeting.

Tiger Frosh Top Mt. Logan

The Circleville freshmen basketball team defeated Chillicothe Mt. Logan on the losers' floor Thursday, 38-37.

The little Tigers held a 22-13 halftime lead, faltered in the third quarter to trail, 33-27, and then came from behind for the win.

The Tigers started the game playing a man to man defense and did a good job against everybody but Rob White, the game's leading scorer with 20 points. He had 10 of his team's 13 first half points.

In the third quarter, Coach Danne Fouts had his cagers go into a zone, hoping to throttle White's game. The zone defense not only failed to stop White, it opened other scoring opportunities for Mt. Logan and they poured 20 points through the hoops while Circleville got only five.

IN the final period, the Tigers switched back to a man to man. Richie Speakman scored two quick layups at the beginning of the fourth quarter, and then Rick Blankenship tied the score. The Tigers and the hosts battled back and forth for the rest of the quarter.

With 38 seconds to go, the score was tied at 37-37. Jim Neal was fouled with 28 seconds to play, and made the first shot on a one and one situation, but missed the second.

Mt. Logan got the rebound, but a foul was immediately committed by Circleville. The Chillicothe player missed, and a Circleville player was fouled in the act of shooting. He missed both chances at the foul line, and Circleville got the ball. There was a jump ball with just two seconds to play.

Don Valentine was Circleville's leading scorer with 13 points. Blankenship had 11 and Neal 10.

Circleville has a 4-4 record for the season.

The Tigers connected on 14 of 35 field goal attempts, a 40 per cent accuracy mark. During the game they made 10 of 23 foul shots and pulled down 32 rebounds.

Santa Clara Beats UC, 80-69

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Five of the nation's leading college basketball scorers were in action Thursday night but the quintet the Santa Clara Broncos put on the court had much better results.

Niagara's Calvin Murphy, Creighton's Bob Portman, Charley Powell of New Orleans Loyola and Furman's Dick Esleeck couldn't lead their teams to victory, but the unbeaten and third-ranked Broncos kept bucking along, whipping the University of California at Santa Barbara 80-69 for their 15th straight.

Dennis Awtery, Santa Clara's 6-foot-9 center, poured in 30 points and the Ogden brothers, Bud and Ralph, had 18 apiece as the Broncos ran their West Coast athletic Conference record to 4-0.

The only other team in The Associated Press' Top Twenty to see action was 20th-ranked Colorado State U., which crushed the Air Force 83-65.

Lloyd Kerr hit seven consecutive points late in the first half to put the Rams ahead and they poured it on after the intermission for their 10th win in 12 games. Cliff Shogogg took scoring honors with 21 points and Kerr added 14.

Niagara's Murphy, the country's second leading scorer, exploded for 47 points but the Purple Eagles fell to once-beaten Columbia 107-84. The outburst raised Murphy's season average to 35.9 but Pete Maravich of Louisiana State leads with 45.5.

Despite the 47 points, it was Murphy's second poorest shooting night of the season. The flashy 5-10 junior made only 13 of 40 floor shots but added 21 of 22 free throws as Bruce Metz, Elliott Wolfe and Heyward Dotson took turns guarding him.

Jim McMillian, Roger Walaszek and Dotson had 29, 26 and 20 points respectively for Columbia.

Utah State's Marv Roberts, the No. 7 scorer, connected for 27 points as the Aggies downed Denver 102-87.

Arizona held Portman to 17 points as the Wildcats won their seventh consecutive game, beating Creighton 72-63. The nation's eighth leading scorer saw his average drop from 27.5 to 26.5.

Powell had the poorest night of the five individuals, managing only seven points in Loyola's 74-54 loss to Memphis State.

Furman's Esleeck was held to 15 as the Paladins bowed to Clemson 91-70.

In other major games, Utah shaded New Mexico 77-76, Brigham Young downed Wyoming 89-78, San Jose State walloped San Francisco 71-58 and Tulane topped Miami of Florida 90-79.

Elementary Supervisor Is Pickaway County's Outstanding Educator

INSTRUCTING — Part of Donald Metzler's job as supervisor of elementary schools is to aid the teachers and principals in evaluating their work and the progress of the students. Above he discusses results of recent state test taken by the students and the meaning of these tests for the students and the school system.

PLANNING — Most important of Metzler's duties is planning for the development of the elementary schools and their curriculum. Above he works on a plan for the family life courses that will be introduced into the school system shortly. He is also working on means of individualizing education. He states that adapting the educational system to take the abilities and needs of individual students into consideration is one of his most important tasks.

HOBBIES — The young educator lists piano playing as one of his major hobbies. He majored in music at Otterbein College in 1958. Today he keeps up with his music by regular practicing and teaching local students.

WHAT'S UP — Every family has its pet, and Annie is the pet, guardian and protector of the Metzler family. Annie was adopted by the family a few years ago when they found her running free near the home. Her real name is Orphan Annie, according to Metzler's son, Jeffrey.

TOURING CLASSES — In the process of his day he visits many of the classes in the city's elementary educational system to see how teachers and students are progressing. Above he talks with students in the first grade at High Street School.

FAMILY FUN — While the head of the family plays the piano for his entertainment, Jeffrey, 5, prances around in time to the music while Ula Jean holds the family's newest addition, 2-month-old Jonathan.

Student Sets Himself Afire In Prague Anti-Russ Action

PRAGUE (AP) — The action of a student who set himself on fire to protest Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia aroused Prague students today and there were reports that more self-immolations were planned. Jan Palach, 21, a history and political economy student at Charles University, was reported by his doctor to have suffered "very serious burns but it cannot be excluded entirely that he will survive in view of the fact that he is a young, strong boy."

He poured gasoline over his body and set himself afire Thursday in Wenceslas Square and a witness said, "He started running, burning from head to toe."

Several government leaders — including National Front Chairman Evzen Erban and Czech Premier Stanislav Razl — met hastily with student leaders at a session that lasted into the early morning hours. Students who attended said a list of student demands was prepared for the government.

They told leaders that students are observing a promise to avoid open conflict but that Palach's act was motivated by political protest.

The students told the politicians that to avoid a crisis the government must do nothing to designate Palach's act, for example by saying he was deranged.

The government representatives were expected to take the message back to the Communist party central committee, which convened again today.

TWA Sues Over Crash

CINCINNATI (AP)—An abortive takeoff and a crash of a passenger jet at Greater Cincinnati Airport in late 1967 took a new legal dimension Thursday in U. S. District Court as Trans-World Airlines filed a $4.84 million damage suit against Delta Airlines.

TWA contended a Delta DC9, mired in mud along the runway, erroneously reported its craft clear of the runway, causing a TWA Boeing 707 to abort and crash on Nov. 6, 1967.

Earlier, George W. Rosenthal filed suit for $525,000 in U. S. District Court against both airlines. Rosenthal said he was injured in the crash and his wife, Marion, died three days later from injuries.

The two were passengers of the TWA aircraft, and the only persons hospitalized.

Delta filed a cross-complaint in the federal court earlier this week, asking that TWA be required to share the cost of any judgement rendered against Delta.

Victoria, British Columbia, was founded in 1834 as a Hudson's Bay Company trading post known as Fort Camosun. Later, it renamed in honor of Queen Victoria.

Elementary Supervisor Is Pickaway County's Outstanding Educator

He is one of the most promising young educators in the state, said Superintendent Fritz Jacobs in nominating Donald Metzler for the local educators award. Metzler, who has taught in Pickaway County for ten years, is presently supervisor of elementary schools in the city school system.

Metzler serves as coordinator of affairs for the city's elementary schools, a resource person for its teachers and a counselor and tester for students.

INSTRUCTING — Part of Donald Metzler's job as supervisor of elementary schools is to aid the teachers and principals in evaluating their work and the progress of the students. Above he discusses results of recent state test taken by the students and the meaning of these tests for the students and the school system.

Metzler . . .

(Continued from Page 1) teacher when he first came to the county. He received his degree from Otterbein College in 1958, went to Ohio State University afterwards, where he received a master of arts degree in 1966. He has since returned to the university for post graduate work and will be returning there again this summer.

Summer work at Ohio State University this year will be in the field of elementary education. "I am interested in elementary education and want to stay in that area as a supervisor," he stated, adding that he has no interest in a general supervisor post such as superintendent.

"I want to try and individualize education for students at Circleville schools," he remarked. "I think that it is important for education to take into consideration the individual, his needs, motivations and abilities."

Teaching students how and where to learn is another task the young educator has set for himself. Explaining what he meant by "where and how to learn," Metzler stated that there is an ever growing wealth of information; too much for a student to gain in his elementary years. Therefore one of the most important tasks is to teach a student how to study, how to learn with the facilities available, and where to look for specific information.

In his home life as well as professional life this elementary school supervisor is constantly busy and, according to his wife "is a bit of a perfectionist."

Together he and his wife finished the interior of their newly built home. "It was a job," his wife Ula Jean stated. "But it was enjoyable."

ANOTHER source of enjoyment to the family is his piano playing. "Piano was my major instrument in college and I try to keep up with it," he stated. On weekends Metzler gives private lessons.

When he plays the piano his wife, 2-month-old son Jonathan and their dog Annie (short for Orphan Annie) sit back and listen. But Jeffrey, 5, likes to get in the act and enjoys his father's music by marching in time to it.

School activities, home life and the recent birth of their
